Solons In Move To Speed FDR Program SEVEN DAYS FILBUSTER CONCLUDED AMBASSADORS LEAVE NANKING

Chamber To Start Work On Building

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(UP)—Despite obstacles to speedy action on two paramount issues—farm and labor bills—house congressional leaders today started a drive for enactment of President Roosevelt's four point special session program.

The two obstacles to speedy action on the main program were the house rules committee's refusal to release the wage-hour bill and the senate agriculture committee's inability to submit a report on the farm bill.

Filibustering Ends
Nevertheless, the administration moved forward with action after a week of filibustering in the senate and bickering in the house.

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, D., Ky., disregarded

Wally's Pal Her Successor, Too

The King Edward-Wallis Warfield-Ernest Simpson triangle was neatly squared at Fairfield, Conn., with the marriage of Ernest Simpson to his former wife's girlhood chum, Mrs. Mary Kirk Raffray. The historic throne rocking romance was set in motion by Mrs. Raffray when she introduced Wallis Warfield to the handsome London Guardsman in 1925. The new Mrs. Simpson and Captain Simpson are pictured after their marriage, which they had advanced a week in an unsuccessful attempt to evade publicity.

Board Votes More Lights For S. Main

Following request for more lights on South Main street, from First street south to the city line, city council last night unanimously voted to increase the present lighting by 66 and two-thirds per cent.

Action was taken upon recommendation of a committee composed of Councilmen Plummer, Bruns and Ernest H. Layton and Police Chief Howard. Both sides of the thoroughfare will have increased lighting, the increase being from 1500 to 2500 lumens. Officials report that 2500 lumens are equal to 145 watts of lighting.

Petitioners of South Main asked the additional lights on the grounds Santa Ana's main thoroughfare should be more beautiful by lighting, that safety would be increased by the increase in lighting. During the depression, the lighting was decreased as an economy measure, officials said. Under the order given last night, both lamps of the light standards will be lighted. Now but one is lighted.

COUNTY OFFICERS BLAST SUPERVISOR; LIBEL SUIT THREATENED AS OUTCOME

Blistering public statements from aroused county officials, and, in at least one case, possibility of a libel suit, today followed statements published yesterday in various newspapers of the county, but not in The Register, quoting Supervisor N. E. West as charging the officials with misuse of public funds.

Confronted by County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson and Public Administrator Earl R. Abbey in the supervisors' meeting today, Supervisor West denied that he had made the charges attributed to him, said he had made no accusations against the integrity of the officials, and denied that he had approved the press statements handed to the various newspapers yesterday by a former newspaperman who said he represented West.

West made one exception in his denial. He said that payment of what he estimated to be $8000 in salary increases by County Auditor W. T. Lambert for the month of October, under the new salary ordinance, which West contends was not effective until November 1, was in his opinion misuse of public funds.

Issue Statements
While Stephenson, Abbey and Lambert issued public statements replying at length to the newspaper statements, besides appearing before the supervisors, Sheriff Logan Jackson, the other official named in the press attacks, which were based upon the question of turning in their fees to the county, maintained a comparative silence that was ominous. In a brief statement addressed to one newspaper, (not The Register) he said:

"The charges and accusations made against me by N. E. West and yourselves through the columns of your paper of November 22, are false and ridiculous. I have placed the matter in the hands of my attorneys for such action as may be appropriate."

Jackson did not make any further comment upon the matter, and did not appear before the supervisors. Instead, he conferred with his personal attorney, F. C. Drumm.

Obtained Advice
Abbey and Stephenson today told the supervisors that they have been at all times willing to abide by the provisions of the new ordinance and do the legal thing, whenever they can discover what the legal thing is. Their constituted legal advisor, the district attorney, had advised them that the fee clause of the ordinance is invalid and compliance with it would mean a violation of the law.

The fact that West has obtained other legal advice himself, contrary to that of the district attorney, does not relieve the officials, Abbey pointed out.

STANDARD OIL OFFICIAL DEAD

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—(UP)—Kenneth R. Kingsbury, 61, president of the Standard Oil Company of California for the past 18 years, died suddenly of a heart attack aboard the Grace liner Santa Paula last night during the ship's transit through the Panama Canal, dispatches from Panama said today.

Kingsbury collapsed while he was dressing for dinner and died shortly afterward. The body was taken to Albrook Field, C. Z., and placed aboard a Pan American Airways ship which will make a three day flight to San Francisco.

On Vacation Trip
Kingsbury was bound from the west coast to Havana and possibly New York on a vacation tour.

One of California's leading industrialists, Kingsbury was credited with building and expanding the Standard Oil Company of California throughout the world.

Kingsbury was repeatedly elected vice president at large of the American Petroleum Institute, he was chairman of the industrial and banking committee of the Twelfth Federal Reserve district; he was a member of the planning and co-ordinating committee for the N.R.A. petroleum code; he was a director of the Anglo-California National Bank; head of the fifth chemical warfare project district, head of the Del Monte Properties Co.; a manager of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition; chairman of the board of trustees of memorial buildings in San Francisco civic center, and first president of Californians, Inc., a state-wide tourist attraction enterprise.

PLAN MEDIATION OF AUTOMOBILE STRIKE

PONTIAC, Mich., Nov. 23.—(UP)—United Automobile Workers officials and General Motors representatives meet today to attempt to arbitrate the grievances which led to a six-day sit-down strike in the Fisher Body plant that forced 14,271 workers into idleness.

The strike had threatened the leadership of Homer Martin, the union's international president, but he succeeded after a series of heated conferences with local union chiefs in leading the sit-down strikers out of the plant. Union executives had termed the strike "unauthorized."

General Motors officials indicated that neither the Fisher plant nor the plant of the Pontiac Motor Co., which had been forced to close, could re-open before Monday.

Ethel Barrymore Back on Broadway
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(UP)—A slender gray haired actress, 58 years old, came out of permanent retirement again last night. She was Ethel Barrymore, returned to Broadway again for a "last" last appearance.

Miss Barrymore achieved a personal triumph, was exuberantly welcomed on her first entrance, and was boisterously applauded at the final curtain, despite the consensus of play reviewers that "The Ghost of Yankee Doodle" was at best only a fair drama.

The critics were unanimous in their appraisal of her performance and in their pleasure at having her back again.

CARS CRASH AS OFFICER FIGHTS

When Luis Figueroa, Placencia, a federal prisoner, assertedly attacked Immigration Officer Franklin Davis about 6 p. m. yesterday while Davis was escorting his prisoner to county jail, the car in which they were riding went out of control, resulting in a collision which landed Mrs. Violet Dewey, 34, 1221 East First street, in county hospital with a possible skull and rib fractures.

According to information given to officials, Davis was about to stop at a boulevard crossing on Placencia avenue at 101 highway, when the alleged attack occurred. In the struggle as Davis overpowered his prisoner, the car went out of control.

Figueroa, with lacerations and severe bruises, is confined in the prison ward at the county hospital. Davis escaped with bruises, it was reported.

Victim's Condition Critical
According to reports from Naval Hospital, San Pedro, Henry C. Gudikunt, 21, sailor, who was injured in the accident Saturday afternoon, which resulted in death for D. P. Beougher, 62, Anaheim, was in critical condition. Given emergency treatment here, it was discovered later Gudikunt was seriously injured although he did not appear so when treated here.

OLD AGE "RACKETS" TO BE INVESTIGATED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—(UP)—Old age racketts and various other relief matters will be investigated next week by the assembly interim committee on social welfare, Speaker William Mosley Jones announced today.

Delays in payment of old age benefits because of failure of local county relief officials to complete their investigation and certification of applicants will be investigated, Jones said.

The committee also will attempt to determine whether any of the "Panacea Clubs" that are cashing in on the craving of elderly people to obtain assurance of security in their declining years, are operating outside the law, Jones said.

WALLACE TELLS 6-POINT PLAN

WICHITA, Kan., Nov. 23.—(UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace today proposed re-enactment of processing taxes on cotton and wheat to finance a point middle-course program of production control.

He said he believed that the Supreme Court would uphold constitutionality of an "equitable and sound" farm program. His proposals, he said, could help farmers "make an orderly retreat to an acreage in line with the needs of available markets."

Wallace spoke at a meeting of southwestern wheat producers. His speech was broadcast nationally.

Outlines Program
His program for wheat:
1.—Planning to gain that share of the world wheat market which will bring wheat farmers their maximum prosperity.
2.—Setting of acreage goals in line with needs of the soil and of domestic and world markets.
3.—Protection against drought through an even normal granary, with reserve supplies stored on the farm or in elevators.
4.—Crop insurance.
5.—Retirement of submarginal land.
6.—Price adjustment payments.

The program, he said, "would not take the wheat growers of the nation to some golden El Dorado," but without such a plan "the only thing I can see ahead of the wheat industry in case we have a series of years of ordinary weather, is a disorderly retreat through the harsh application of 'natural economic law'."

Neither wheat farmers nor cotton farmers could depend on subsidies from the general treasury over a period of years, he said, because of shifts in congressional sentiment.

"Therefore," he explained, "it would seem that with both cotton and wheat, the sensible thing would be to let the commodities themselves bear the load in the form of tariff-equalizing taxes levied at the point of the first processing."

ANGLO-NAZI PARLEY REPORT IS AWAITED
LONDON, Nov. 23.—(UP)—One of the principal aims of the visit of Viscount Halifax, lord president of the council in the cabinet, to Germany was to induce Fuehrer Adolf Hitler to reconsider his policy of "economic isolation," diplomatic sources asserted today.

They recalled that the announcement of the imminence of Anglo-United States trade treaty negotiations, together with hints of agreements of value, were excellently timed to reinforce such a mission.

Members of the House of Commons will learn tomorrow whether Halifax was able to obtain any reactions to this "bid for peace through plenty" from Colonel General Hermann Goering, who directs Hitler's four year self-sufficiency plan.

COUNCIL OUSTS RACING AGENCY

Horse racing wagering establishments were on their way out of Santa Ana today, to stay.

Last night, by unanimous vote, city council gave first reading and adoption to an ordinance which will banish all types of horse racing wagering establishments, the ordinance being aimed particularly, at present, at the California Forwarding company on West Fourth street.

According to opinions of State Atty. General U. S. Webb, and a state court official, such establishments as the one here, are legal insofar as they forward bets directly to the race track enclosure, but City Atty. Lew Blodgett holds that any city or county governmental body may adopt an ordinance to ban such places.

Action was taken upon motion of Councilman Plummer Bruns. The ordinance must be adopted a second time before it is finally passed. Thirty days after final reading, scheduled for the meeting of December 6, the ordinance will become effective.

QUIZ STARTED INTO FATAL PRISON FEUD

STATE PRISON, Florence, Ariz., Nov. 23.—(UP)—Warden A. J. Barnes pressed his investigation today of the stabbing of Peter Shada, burglar, who died late yesterday of knife wounds received in a "convict feud."

While Shada, serving five to 10 years, died without naming his attacker, Barnes and County Attorney Virgil Chandler questioned Gene Gryder, serving 15 to 40 years for highway robbery.

Gryder, whom guards found with a homemade knife, was held in solitary confinement where he admitted being involved in the fatal scuffle but insisted he "only defended myself."

DIVIDEND VOTED BY SAN DIEGO COMPANY

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 23.—(UP)—The regular semi-annual dividend of three cents on each of the 150,000 shares of common stock outstanding was voted today by the directors of the National Iron-works.

"MOVING MOUNTAIN" CAN'T BE STOPPED," WARNS GEOLOGIST

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—(UP)—A geologist told the city today that nothing can be done to stop the threatening march of the "Moving Mountain" in Elysian park.

Only when it reaches a natural resting place, he said, will there be a halt in the creep of the 2,000,000 tons of rock, earth and trees slipping down from a bluff in the park a mile from the civic center.

Predict Destruction
A highway and viaduct probably will be destroyed. A row of small buildings may be engulfed. Police served a formal written warning upon the occupants who are reluctant to flee.

MARTIN TESTS HUGE 31-TON FLYING SHIP

Designed by Glenn L. Martin, formerly of Santa Ana, the Soviet Clipper, largest flying boat ever built in America, is to have its first flying test today according to word received here from Baltimore where the Glenn L. Martin Company has its factory.

The ship, destined for early delivery to Russia was launched yesterday in Lark Head Creek for tests. W. K. Ebbell, chief test pilot for the company was at the controls when the 63,000-pound flying boat slid off the concrete ramp and into the creek. Because of the low stage of the creek Ebbell did not take the ship into the air yesterday.

When the plane was pushed off the ramp, according to word from the factory, it jarred against a submerged concrete abutment. The motors, however, pulled the boat off the obstruction under her own power and without damage to the hull.

PIANIST MAKES DEBUT
NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(UP)—Julius Katchen, 11-year old pianist, emerged timidly from the wings at Carnegie Hall last night, started with obvious embarrassment at the full house, and proceeded to play the Mozart Concerto with a skill that drew the heartiest adulation of the critics.

It was his New York debut and the highest point in his career—playing with the New York Philharmonic orchestra.

Two of the injured remained in critical condition with doubt expressed as to their chance of recovery.

The most critically hurt are Helge E. Erickson, 28, motorman, and W. C. McAllister, 42, a passenger. Erickson sustained a fractured pelvis, back and internal injuries while McAllister's injuries were listed as internal, severe lacerations and shock.

Officials of the San Diego Electric Railway Company already have launched their own investigation seeking to determine whether "failure of lighted block signals" in the dense fog caused the crash.

SHOOTING OF QUAIL HUNTER STARTS QUIZ

WEST BLASTED BY OFFICIALS

"I have been in public service here for 25 years and this is the first time anybody ever attacked my integrity," he said heatedly.

Makes Denial

West replied that Abbey should first get the facts before coming to him, and then proceeded to deny the accuracy of the press reports quoted. He denied, in particular, that he had made any reference or comparison between the ousting of a former county recorder for misappropriation of fees, and the present case, a comparison that particularly incensed the officials because the fees in the other case were fees collected for the county and not collected for the officials.

Stephenson reminded West that he had in his possession an exact copy of the press statement that had been handed the newspapers by the former newspaperman, who claimed to represent West. West said he had never seen nor approved nor authorized some of the misstatements appearing in the press. He then said he had made statements in answer to questions, for the purpose of "stopping loose talk about regarding what officials would do about the fee clause of the ordinance, and as to its legality."

Conspiracy Charge

West then charged a conspiracy among officials to discredit the new ordinance, which had been, he said, "checked by outside attorneys when not drawn as the board wanted it." He then suggested that the officials were not justified in following the opinion of their legal advisor, District Attorney Menton, because Menton had "approved the ordinance section by section" before he subsequently gave an opinion ruling the fee clause invalid. West said he had never claimed to speak for the board when he made his statement.

Before appearing before the board, Stephenson and Abbey issued statements addressed to a certain newspaper:

Based On Article

"Dear Sir: It seems to me unbelievable that your paper should have published the article that appeared on the front page of your paper last night under the headline, 'West Threatens County Heads. Misuse of Public Funds Charged.'"

"It seems to me unbelievable because I, as a former newspaperman of many years experience, know that you should have taken the precaution of checking up on the libelous assertions made in the article based on a written article sent to you by N. E. West, a county supervisor, a position that should be a position of credibility and responsibility."

"It seems to me unbelievable that you as editor of the paper could knowingly allow the publication of an article in your paper in which public officials whose records are clean and honorable are charged with 'misuse of public funds' when there is not an iota of evidence even alleged against them, not even a suspicion expressed against them."

Gives Record

"I have lived in this county for more than fifty years, and I can say to you that no man can honestly say that he has even a shadow of suspicion that I have misused or misappropriated a dime or a dollar or any other sum entrusted to me by any person, group of persons or by any institution. During the twelve years that I was postmaster some millions of dollars passed through my custody, and never did an inspector find a dollar missing. During the past two years, no less than $34,000,000 has passed through the office of the County Treasurer, and not a thin dime is gone. Experts of the grand jury counted the money not a week ago."

"Knowing, as you do, that I have a record like that, I say that you and N. E. West, by your combined efforts, cannot insinuate that I have misused public funds without hearing from me."

"With Press Agent"

"You are hearing from me now. The copy from which you wrote the article in your paper was carried to you in writing by Kenneth Adams, a press agent for N. E. West."

"Can you beat it! A county official with a press agent!"

"A press agent for what? To work the newspapers for news articles playing up Mr. West as a great man, a savior of the common people."

"A press agent to gain fame for Mr. West by tearing down the reputations of public officials of this county? To put over such things as appeared in your paper last night, to criticize, to condemn, to destroy?"

"And you fell for it, fell for a publicity stunt from a publicity-seeking official who in such ways as that hopes to persuade voters that he should be kept in office."

"After all, regardless of my opinion of any man who will besmirch good men for his own gain, the facts in the fee matter are the measure of the situation."

"What are the facts concerning the fees involved in the office of county treasurer?"

"The facts:

"First, the state law makes the county treasurer a representative of the state controller to protect the rights of the state in inheritance tax matters. For services rendered for the state, not the county, the treasurer is allowed a commission averaging in this county $1000 or $1200 a year. That money is never county money. The state law does not contemplate that it shall be seized by the county for its own purposes. Under the new salary ordinance, however, the board of supervisors proposes to seize it. Having failed so far to seize it legally, Mr. West now threatens me."

"Fully Accounted"

"Second, I have not taken into my individual possession one dollar of the money that is involved in the matter. It is all in the county treasury, fully accounted for on the auditor's books."

"Third, assuming that the county has a right to seize this money, a dollar of that money is due to be paid even if I had taken personal possession of it."

"Fourth, the board of supervisors has never discussed this matter with me. I have not refused to turn the money into the county when I do get personal possession of it. In order to make his play for publicity at this time, this misinforming and misleading the people, Mr. West ASSUMED that I would not follow the provisions of the new ordinance."

"Mr. West speaks of these fees that he assumes will be withheld as being withheld 'illegally.'"

Cites Many Muddles

"What is the legality in the matter? Instead of following the plain practice set down by supervisors over the past half-century, a majority of the board (I do not include Supervisor Smith in these remarks, or elsewhere in this article in speaking of the board) set forth to do something new, and, perhaps surprising, (more publicity?) They worked out after one month of labor what has proved to be a tricky ordinance, one that is distinguished by the multiplicity of its muddles."

"The ordinance leaves a lot to the imagination. At least, it is riddled with points that the district attorney says cannot be sustained in law. One of these points is the question as to whether the county has a right to raise salaries of elective officials by subterfuge. If it cannot do that, then, according to the district attorney, the county has no legal right to demand any of the fees of its elective officials, including the treasurer."

"I am anxious and willing to do the legal thing. I will abide by the law whenever it is determined what is the law."

"Up to this time, there has been only one opinion given to me. That opinion is from the district attorney, and he says in writing that the inheritance tax fees involved DO NOT BELONG TO THE COUNTY. Under the law, he is my legal advisor."

"Am I, then, to disregard his advice and take my advice from somebody who is not even a lawyer—meaning Mr. West? Just to aid his publicity? I ask you honestly."

Sought Agreement

"Before Mr. West's publicity outbreak in your paper yesterday, I had written a proposal to the Board of Supervisors seeking an understanding and agreement in my case. There is not enough money involved to warrant a law suit. The county has plenty of them on its hands now. However, it seems necessary to outline that proposal here, for Mr. West seems intent on making a mess out of it if he possibly can do it."

"Lastly, let me say to you that I resent most intensely the fact that you, following the copy furnished you by Mr. West's press agent, coupled the names of three county officials, including my own, with that of a county official ousted from office two years ago for misconduct in the financial affairs of a county office. The two situations are in no way a parallel. In one case, that of two years ago, the official had actually violated the law. In this case, no law has been violated. No law, if I can possibly find out what the law is, will be violated."

"Your offense and Mr. West's in making an insinuation such as involved in reference to the case of two years ago is unpardonable, and I demand of you that you produce any reason, good or bad, or any slightest evidence, legal or otherwise, that in the slightest way justifies any such libelous and outrageous suggestion."

Abbey's statement: "I read with great surprise in your paper last night that I, and other public officials, were charged with misuse of public funds."

"You know by this time that the assertions made in your paper were unjustified and untruthful. You know that I have not been charged or suspected of withholding any money due from me to the county."

"I am under bond as public administrator of this county. My acts are reviewed by the superior court. My record is as clean as a bound's tooth. I have never been accused or suspected of milking an estate. I have never been called upon to explain or account for a shortage, for none has existed, and none will ever exist while I am in office. Go to the courts, ask the judges if what I say is true or untrue."

No County Fees

"I have received no fees that could be turned in under the new ordinance. I will have no fees that can be turned in December 5 or anywhere near that time. Yet, Supervisor West through your publication can blast forth to the public a statement in which he insinuates that I might be taken before the grand jury for misuse of public funds, insinuates in a cowardly manner that I, as well as other officials, might have done something that would put me in the same class with a public official ousted from office two years ago for mis-handling—if you want to call it that—of public funds."

"I am angry clean through, and I have a right to be."

"And you have allowed your paper to become the vehicle by which an unscrupulous member of the Board of Supervisors, seeking his own welfare, has tried to discredit me."

"Allow me to say that I have never yet failed to co-operate with the Board of Supervisors in any movement under this much discussed new salary ordinance. I have told members of the board that I would do whatever proved to be legal. I still stand ready to do that."

Cites Attorney's Ruling

"So far, the only ruling I know anything about is that of the district attorney who says that I cannot legally turn my fees into the county. What does Mr. West, then, want me to do? Do something unlawful just to please him and fit into his notions of government."

"If your paper and Mr. West together selected three county officials for attack, and failed to mention three other county officials who are entitled to fees. I point out to you that fact as an evidence of mendacious and vicious intentions to do damage to certain officials, rather than to fight out a matter on its merits."

"I feel, therefore, that the statements made in your paper were libelous and malicious, and made for only one purpose and that purpose is to discredit and blacken the names of certain county officials."

SOLONS ACT TO SPEED PROGRAM

lack of a report on the crop control bill. The senate, upon motion of Ellison D. Smith, D. S. C., chairman of the agriculture committee, began consideration of the bill. Then Senator Robert F. Wagner, D. N. Y., formally withdrew his motion to consider the anti-lynching bill. That ended seven days of filibustering and opened way for debate on the administration program.

Smith began a detailed explanation of the farm bill. He disregarded questioning by Senator William H. King, D. Utah, who asked about advisability of proceeding without a formal report. The measure would require federal expenditures in farm benefits estimated from $600,000,000 to $750,000,000. It was understood that the committee report would be available tomorrow.

Seek to Aid Business

Meanwhile, the house ways and means tax sub-committee, driving to satisfy demands of business for relief from taxation, tentatively adopted a plan revising the corporate tax structure, including normal corporate levies and the undistributed profits tax. The committee agreed: 1—to give corporations earning $25,000 annually total exemption from the undistributed profits tax and to raise their normal tax to 12-1/2 per cent on the first $5000 and 14 per cent on the next $20,000. 2—to place a top rate of 20 per cent on the incomes of corporations earning more than $25,000, with a minimum of 16 per cent, contingent on earnings retained by the corporations.

"GROSS EXAGGERATION"

CHARGED BY F. D. R.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today dispatched to three congressional committees a report by the New York state power authority charging private utility interests with "gross exaggeration" in estimating costs of power generated by government hydro-electric projects and "gross understatement" of modern steam generation costs.

In letters to chairmen of the house committees on flood control, rivers and harbors, and military affairs, Mr. Roosevelt said: "It is in the public interest that if there are two sides to any question both sides should be fairly and freely laid before the public."

"In view of the widespread publicity given to statements and figures issued by private individuals or private committees, I believe that this report will be of interest and help to you and the public."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(UP)—Chairman John J. O'Connor, D. N. Y., of the house rules committee announced today that the house leadership had determined there was "no possibility" of favorable action by his committee on the wages and hours bill.

"The leadership," O'Connor announced in a formal statement distributed at Speaker William B. Bankhead's daily press conference, "has exhausted every possible effort to secure a sufficient number of votes in the rules committee to report out a resolution for the consideration of the wages and hours bill, and find that there is no possibility of the bill being considered by that method."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(UP)—The United States, British and other ambassadors officially evacuated Nanking today in the face of the Japanese drive on the former Chinese capital.

The foreign gunboats carrying the ambassadors and the majority of their nationalities proceeded up the Yangtze river at 11 a. m. for Hankow where most of the Chinese ministries have been established.

Captains Frank Roberts and J. M. McHugh, assistant military and naval attaches of the American embassy, were left in Nanking to attend to routine affairs and provide protection for the few remaining Americans.

REFUGEES MOVE TO HANKOW

HANKOW, China, Nov. 23.—(UP)—Three thousand Chinese refugees, including officials and their families, arrived at China's new capital today after a hazardous two-day trip from Nanking.

The refugees arrived aboard a merchantman which steamed up the Yangtze river in a driving rain.

Only the highest officials had cabins. The refugees crowded the decks, saloon and corridors. Wounded refugees were put into the hold where they lay unattended throughout the trip.

Slight Error Is Found In Petition

Because there was a slight error in the legal description of the district, the petition for patrons of the Yorba Elementary school district for transfer from the Yorba Linda district, was returned to the petitioners for correction.

Superintendent of County Schools Ray Adkinson said that the error probably will cause a delay of one week in action on the request.

The petition requested that the Yorba district be transferred from the Yorba Linda district and back to the Placentia district. Last year the separation from Placentia was effected by the supervisors.

Adkinson had planned to present the petition to the board of supervisors today and have that body set Dec. 7 as the date for formal hearing on the petition.

MONROE DOCTRINE IS SPEECH TOPIC

"The Monroe Doctrine has been the guiding influence in the relations of the United States with Mexico," declared Dr. Robert G. Cleland, of Occidental college, in an address at Willard Auditorium last night.

"This doctrine has had many different interpretations by the different presidents. The present world crisis may bring the United States face to face with the necessity of scrapping the Monroe doctrine or fighting for it."

The speaker went on to show that always in the past, European nations have acceded to the doctrine in their relations with Latin America when requested by the United States. Neither Germany, Italy nor Japan has yet made a move toward America but Dr. Cleland expressed the opinion that such a move was not impossible and if made, might bring this government to the point of abandoning the time honored doctrine of fighting for it.

MODESTO PACT IS FAVORED BY COUNTY GROUP

Voting to support the stabilization program adopted by growers representing various organizations and the small variety of beans in central and northern California, as approved last week at Modesto, 65 lima bean growers met last night at Farm Bureau hall.

Following action of the growers, L. E. Barry, chairman of the meeting, issued the following statement, in part:

Conditions Change
"Two years ago the growers of small varieties of beans made an attempt to have beans included in the A.A.A. as a basic commodity. As the result of meetings held in Orange County at that time, lima bean growers were opposed to the plan. However, conditions have changed since that time, and at the meeting last night, they voted to favor inclusion of beans as a basic commodity in the national farm program, with only one dissenting vote.

"The second part of the program had to do with an attempt to remove the surplus of two and one-half million bags of all varieties of beans. The surplus removal program has three parts, first, to get the Commodity Credit Corporation to make loans to bean growers at approximately the then market price, similar to loans being granted to other agricultural commodities, principally cotton, corn, etc. This has a tendency to place a bottom on the market. Second, to get the Surplus Commodity Corporation to buy beans for federal relief clients. Third, to get the National Chain Store Association and the National Association of Independent Retail Merchants to institute a sales program for beans to run concurrently with the purchase program of the government Surplus Corporation.

Leaders Take Part
The argument on behalf of the northern and central California bean growers and in favor of this program, which was finally adopted, was made by Carlyle Thorpe, General Manager of the California Walnut Growers Association, and himself a large bean grower in Ventura and Monterey counties.
R. L. Churchill and Larry Teasdale, Manager and Assistant Manager, respectively, of the California Lima Bean Growers Association, were present and lead a general discussion on the problems encountered in the marketing of the 1937 crop.

City Police Will Back Radio Laws

The ordinance which prohibits operation of any machinery interfering with police radio reception, was amended by city council last night, placing enforcement exclusively in the hands of city police.
Formerly, the ordinance read that enforcement "shall be made by the city electrician or police." The ordinance exempts machinery operated in connection with the professions of medicine or dentistry.

OBJECTION TO ENTERTAINMENT BY CHILDREN AIRED BY BOARD

Objection by Dr. Margaret Baker to "exploiting young children in our schools," referring to a current entertainment by a Hollywood juvenile organization at the local high school auditorium, failed to win support of her fellow members on the board of education at last night's meeting.

Other members expressed belief that the appearance of young children in dancing programs at hours when Dr. Baker felt as she indicated, that they should be abed, was a matter for the parents of the children to decide, and that the board of education had no responsibility or jurisdiction.

C. OF C. JOINS IN L. A. DRIVE

Directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce will be asked Monday to endorse the campaign of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to retain fast inter-coastal passenger steamship service.
The Los Angeles organization has formed a state-wide committee representing 200 civic, trade and industrial organizations for the purpose of preventing withdrawal of "luxury liners" of the Grace Line and Panama-Pacific line from the inter-coastal service.

This organization is seeking cooperation of all Southern California interests in bringing pressure to bear upon Congressmen and Senators to adopt enabling legislation that will make withdrawal of the ships unnecessary.

If directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce endorse the move the organization and all members probably will be asked to send telegrams and letters to Congressman Harry Sheppard urging favorable action on the enabling legislation.

JAYSEE PLANS ANNUAL AFFAIR

Santa Ana Junior college's Alumni association last night began making preliminary arrangements for the annual reunion of former jaysee students. It is to be held Friday evening, Dec. 17.

Officers of the college association today sent out a plea to all former college students to attend the get-together. Otto Grigg, president; Florence Turner, vice president; Mrs. Violet Bartholomew, permanent secretary; and Marian Hawk, treasurer, were those who are making the plans.

Cards are being sent to two representative students of all former classes for another meeting to be held next Monday. President Grigg said it would be held in the women's lounge on the campus.

Editors of the paper are now making plans for the annual alumni edition of El Don. Vic Rowland, is editor, while John H. McCoy is journalism adviser. Rowland will be assisted by Eleanor Brady, society editor; Jack Gardner, sports editor; Oscar Loeffers, feature editor; and Ed Velarde, copyreader, as well as by the first year journalism class.

"CLAUSE" DEFERRED

At suggestion of City Atty. Lew Blodgett, an ordinance to prohibit operation of stores which advertise "close-out" sales frequently without intending to "close-out," was held up last night by city council, so that it can be incorporated into an ordinance to regulate "rolling stores."

SHERIFF NAMED ADMINISTRATOR IN RELIEF PLAN

Sheriff Logan Jackson was named administrator of the Major Disaster Emergency Council, by the board of supervisors.

Action appointing Jackson was taken as result of a petition presented by Mrs. Laura R. Warren, representing the American Red Cross; Ben Lieberman, disaster relief chairman for the American Legion and David McMillan, representing the Orange County Peace Officers Association.

Petition Prepared
The petition, as presented, was prepared by a committee comprising District Attorney William H. Menton and John C. Wallace and Rodney Bacon, representatives of the Lions club.

In the petition it was pointed out that under the recently adopted ordinance creating the Major Disaster Emergency Council, the sheriff is designated as the logical administrator of the organization.

Before the board voted on Jackson's appointment, Supervisor Steele Finley suggested that the sheriff be designated administrative head but not be named. He suggested that so the committee "could function in case Mr. Jackson sometime ceases to be sheriff."

WORK ON H. B. PARK BUILDING STOPPED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 23. — Following protests registered at the chamber of commerce meeting last night, Mayor Willis Warner today ordered work stopped on the Scout-Angling club building in Lake park. The city council will hold a special meeting for discussion of the matter. Work started this month.

Located in a corner of the park on Main street, it is claimed that the building spoils the view into the park. Comment was made that the building is entirely without windows and doors on the Main street side. Those protesting urged that the building be placed at another location in the park.

PLEA FOR FARM CAR DEFERRED

Because Supervisor Harry Riley and other members of the board could not understand why an automobile that has traveled only 30,000 miles in two years should be replaced, the request of Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg for a new car in his department was held up today.

Riley presented the request from the Farm Advisor's and at the same time suggested the delay. He said that the car to be replaced is a 1935 model and had traveled but 30,000 miles. He suggested that the garage superintendent be interviewed before action is taken. The matter was referred to Riley who will investigate why the car should be replaced and get a recommendation from the garage superintendent.

Flying fish have been timed at a speed of 50 miles an hour.

Kiwanis Plan For Thanksgiving Fete

A Thanksgiving program, with a turkey dinner and "all the trimmings" and an address by the Rev. Harry Owing, pastor of the First Baptist church, on "Our American Thanksgiving tradition" is scheduled for the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club tomorrow at the Masonic Temple, it was announced today by R. C. Raddant, club secretary.

Dr. J. E. Paul will be program chairman of the day and will introduce the speaker, R. B. Newcom will preside at the meeting.

Sea birds usually have heavier wings than land birds, since they must ride out severe storms, instead of perching in trees until danger passes.

SEA SCOUTS TO GET PATROL BOAT

WHITE SOON TO SEND DETAILS TO WASHINGTON

Assignment soon of a decommissioned Coast Guard patrol boat to the Orange County Sea Scouts, was revealed here today by Harrison White, Orange county scout executive.

The boat will be moored in Newport Harbor at the Sea Scout base where it will be available for training work and for cruises.

Considerable credit for securing the boat, White said, should go to Mayor Harry Williamson and Harbor Master Thomas Bouchey, both of Newport-Balboa. It was through their efforts that the scout organization learned that the 75-foot patrol boat now at the San Francisco Coast Guard base had been decommissioned and ordered put up for survey.

Application Approved
White immediately filed a request for permission to use the boat as a Sea Scout training ship and yesterday was notified that government officials had approved the application and for White to complete the necessary details.

All papers connected with the application were signed by White and turned over to Regional Scout headquarters today for final endorsement before forwarding to Washington.

In a telephone conversation yesterday Commander Pollard of the Coast Guard unit at San Pedro, assured White that he would do everything in his power to have the boat released to the Orange county organization as soon as possible.

Revival Service Begins Tonight

Jewish Evangelists Meyer and Alie Tanditter, commence revival services at 7:30 p. m. today in the Full Gospel church at 1600 W. Third and nightly thereafter.

Musicians, singers and preachers will furnish accompaniment, and services will last until Dec. 12. E. L. Friend is the pastor in charge of services at the Full Gospel church and he has announced that all are welcome to attend the revival meetings during the next two weeks.

Modern Pioneers to Re-enact 3000-Mile Trek

Pioneer plainmen thought their journeys hazardous, but how about the dangers of whizzing autos and carbon monoxide fumes which will confront 36 doughty "modern pioneers" when they accompany the covered wagon and ox team, shown above, in a re-enactment of the 3000-mile trek of Northwest Territory settlers from Ipswich, Mass., to Marietta, O., and through the other five states of the Northwest Territory? Dressed in coonskin cap, leather clothing and carrying powder horns, the members of the 1937 caravan will be on the road several months, starting Dec. 3. Their wagon is an exact duplicate of the Conestoga wagons used by the original caravan. Some of the iron parts are even from the early caravan vehicles.

BURGLARS LOOT COUNTY HOMES

Burglars visited the home of Frank Weiss, Crystal Cove, during the past 10 days, stealing canned goods, clothes and bed linen, it was revealed today by sheriff's officers.

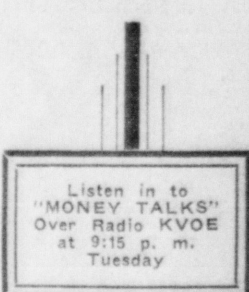

Not only did Deputies Bob Steinberger and A. W. Fullerton learn that the burglars had consumed a quantity of canned goods but that they had prepared a complete dinner which they left untouched. Officers believe they were frightened away. The same burglars apparently entered the Lilly home, adjacent, taking a radio. A key found in the door of the Weiss home, fitted a door to the Lilly home.

MAP OF BOULDER DAM DISTRICT PICTURED BY SANDS IN BOTTLE

A clever souvenir of Boulder dam has been received by Marion Speer, owner and curator of the Western Trails museum at Liberty Park for placement in the museum. The unusual subject is a miniature bottle approximately three inches in height.

The bottle contains sands of the different formations found in the strata at the dam section and the colors are used in such a manner that a map of the Boulder dam country is reproduced.

A large collection of arrow points, native to the state of Missouri was received by Speer this week and they have been placed in the "Missouri" section of the display cases. Some of the specimens of life found in the first and second areas have been polished by Speer and placed among other displays.

G. OF C. LEADER HEADS PROJECT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 23.—Lavish decorations and brilliant illumination will be in vogue here during the holiday season and will be the city's offering in the Orange County Coast association's annual Christmas lighting program.

Shrine Planned
The Three Wise Men will be depicted in a shrine built 10 feet above the entrance to the pier. The temple, the ancient city with the mountains rising in the background silhouetted by the clouds floating in the sky, will be the picture executed by Marcus Howard, well known for his artistic ability.

In the foreground stands palms will wave a welcome and a gorgeous Christmas tree, the gift of the Standard Oil company, will complete the Christmas setting at the end of Main street along Coast highway. Indirect colored lighting effects will portray the beauty of the shrine and flood lights will be thrown upon the palms and Christmas tree.

The arch at the intersection of Main street and Coast highway will be the central point of illumination marking the decorative Christmas tree lane that will extend from that point up Main street to north of Orange avenue, and up and down the Coast highway from Second to Sixth streets, and to the pier shrine.

McCallen in Charge
President M. M. McCallen of the chamber of commerce, accepted the general chairmanship of the Christmas lighting project at the board of directors' meeting last night.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(UP)—The commerce department reported today that notwithstanding the general business recession, retail sales in small towns and rural areas—reflecting farmers' purchasing power—were 3.5 per cent higher in October than in the corresponding month last year.

All sections of the country except the south showed increases. In the far west, the seven states lying west of the Rocky Mountains, rural chain store and mail order sales indicated an eight per cent increase over last year. A seven per cent increase was shown for the east and the midwest recorded a 4.5 per cent gain.

ROBIN HOOD'S GANG "BUSTED"

The merry man, a small part actor named Frankie Fisher, whom authorities termed a "known hoodlum," sat in the county's very modern bastille.

Held As Witness
He was nabbed by a special squad formed by District Attorney Buron Pitts to combat an influx of eastern gangsters seeking a share of the movie colony's wealth. Fisher was held as a material witness in the recent murder of Hymie Miller, another actor.

Raiders braved an army of long bow and pikemen, and a squadron of knights in armor in taking Fisher into custody. It was a raid such as the sheriff of Nottingham, ever bested by Robin Hood in the famous tale, would have hoped to carry off.

"Merry Men"
Fisher was working as one of Robin Hood's band of merry men. Errol Flynn, the tall adventurous Irish actor, is Robin Hood, Dainty Olivia De Havilland is his maid Marian.

Sherwood Forest scenes have already been completed in a woods near Chico, Calif. Now the Castle of Nottingham has been built in the wooded glens of Busch Gardens in Pasadena. Adolphus Busch, famed brewer, laid out the gardens years ago.

FLORIDA CITRUS IS SAVED FROM FREEZE

LAKE LAND, Fla., Nov. 23.—(UP)—As rising temperatures today lightened worries of fruit and vegetable growers of loss from the most severe weather of the season, reports indicated the citrus crop escaped damage.

Although freezing and sub-freezing temperatures of last weekend pushed south into the heart of the citrus area, preliminary surveys showed no material damage resulted to the orange, grapefruit and tangerine crops.

Temperatures were low enough to nip truck crops, but heavier truck production is confined to South Florida at this season and only slight loss was listed in reports coming out of the Everglades and other winter vegetable centers.

Famed Dog Owned By Burbank Dies

SANTA ROSA, Calif., Nov. 23.—(UP)—Bonita, a mongrel fox terrier, who was the favorite dog of the late famed Luther Burbank, horticulturist, was petted by royalty, industrial leaders and great scientists, died here yesterday at the home of Burbank's widow.

The late King Albert of Belgium, the late Thomas Edison, Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone were among the scores of notables that played with Bonita during Burbank's lifetime.

AUTO CLUB IN NEW DRIVE TO CUT ACCIDENTS

With records revealing that many traffic accidents occur as cars make left-turns, Police Chief Floyd W. Howard today had under consideration a request that more "no left-turn" signs be posted during busy hours downtown and that he should aid in changing the public attitude toward motorists making left-turns.

Endorsed by Cato
The request was made by Stanislaus L. Mitchell, secretary and general manager of the Automobile Club of Southern California, with the endorsement of E. Raymond Cato, head of the California Highway patrol.

Section 551 of the California vehicle code requires a left-turner at any intersection to yield the right-of-way to any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction, which already is within the intersection or so close to it to constitute an immediate hazard, it was pointed out. Section 554 allows left-turners at places other than intersections to turn only when that movement can be made with reasonable safety.

Change Necessary
"This change of attitude is necessary," said Mitchell, "because our present practice in California, of assisting the left-turner at the convenience of the straight-ahead driver is contrary to the practice which prevails in almost all other states and because our present practice is contrary to a reasonable interpretation of the California law on this subject."

Mitchell said that if Santa Ana police and all other traffic enforcement officers will adopt the interpretation as the state legislature intended it to be interpreted when Section 550-c was adopted last year, the left-turn as now practiced eventually will be discouraged. "It will diminish the present traffic toll sharply," he stated.

Discussion Urged
Mitchell, who said Chief Cato would cooperate in such a move, suggested that the change in attitude about the left-turns should be obtained through widespread discussion and publicity rather than by campaign of arrests.

JAIL TERMS SERVED AT NIGHT
MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—Husbands who stay out nights in Miami have a new excuse now—they've only been to jail. Judge Norman Blakely has instituted a policy of permitting minor traffic violators, who have been given jail terms, to serve their sentences at night, leaving them free to hold their jobs in the daytime.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
ROBERT BARRY—hero, explorer.
MELISSA LANE—heroine, Barry's partner.
HONEY BEE GIRL—Indian member of Barry's party.
HADES JONES—pioneer member of Barry's party.

Yesterday Bob begins his exploration of Defiance Castle, drops down over the overhanging cliff and is unable to get back again! He must do something quickly.

CHAPTER V

To the three people below, Robert Barry looked like a toy doll, a puppet, dangling on the end of the rope stretching 600 feet or more above them.

"What in tarnation's he tryin' to do?" shrieked Hades Jones. Hades was jumping around and chattering more excitedly than either of the two girls. Mary Melissa looked enthralled.

"Oh, I don't know! It's awful, Mr. Jones. Can't you make him stop? Is it necessary to risk his life this way?"

Bob was going through some sort of queer contortions now. He appeared to have looped the rope around his foot, and to be starting a motion of "pumping" as a boy would do in a swing.

But he gathered momentum slowly. He seemed first to swing the wrong way—parallel to the cliff dwelling ledge, rather than toward it—and he had to slow down, then start anew.

He stopped and heaved, struggling for the pendulum motion again. The arc of his swing grew slowly—in-an-out, in-and-out—to and from the red rock. The cliff was so jagged and rough that it appalled Mary Melissa to think of what might happen. In her semi-hysteria she envisioned her business partner slipping, striking the rock and sliding down its steep slope.

The great cliff in which Defiance Castle nestled was really a concave surface, overhanging at the top and curving quickly inward to the "mouth" or cave which had been chosen as a home site by the ancient builders. Below this niche, which was big enough to hold a three-story building, the granite-like wall curved gently outward again, progressing in drops of 20 to 30 feet, broken by vicious-looking points and knobs. Occasional scrubby gnarled plants clung precariously to the wall, although where they found soil for sustenance was a mystery.

On the day when they first saw the cliff, Mary Melissa had commented that it was a fine, theatrical backdrop for a great drama.

The ancients had farmed the flat valley, where this modern exploration party had set up camp. The ancients must have known work and danger and love and excitement and happiness and death there centuries ago. The life drama of a kingdom!

The white girl thought of this in a flash again, and instantly realized that she was seeing another dramatic moment here. Only this one was not in retrospect, not for calm historical study. It was tremendously near and real.

She strained to see Bob Barry. The arc of his swing was incredibly large now. And he was still "pumping."

Suddenly she knew his plan. She realized what he hoped to do. "No! Oh no!" She breathed it, almost as a prayer. The distance seemed much too great.

In that instant, Mary Melissa knew that it mattered terribly.

SHE knew that it mattered to her, personally, and irrevocably. She didn't phrase it, even to herself, as love. But she knew. The tightening within her, the actual physical pain in her heart, was keener than it would have been if she saw a casual acquaintance in danger.

In the latter circumstance, she would have screamed. She might have run, and shouted advice, anything in her high alarm. But this feeling was different. Deeper, somehow. In the strain of the moment she touched something divine—and prayed to it, mumbled her petitions without restraint or shame.

More given to physical action in such emergencies, old Hades Jones had abruptly disappeared, running. Frankly, he had no idea what he would accomplish, but he hastened toward the trees at the foot of the great cliff. At least he would be on hand when Bob Barry fell.

Honey Bee Girl, being of a less demonstrative race anyway, had uttered no words. She just waited. But what of Scott Holliman—who had accompanied Bob to the cliff top and let down the rope?

It hadn't taken his employer long to disappear over the edge of the cliff. Holliman had warned him to be careful, but in Bob Barry was the supreme confidence of young physical strength.

Holliman could see nothing after Bob disappeared. The rim curved precariously for six or eight feet before the edge was reached, and he dared not try to peer over at Bob. He had just let the rope out slowly as instructed, then held it, snubbed, when it was almost gone.

It occurred to him that he hadn't been told when to pull his boss back up. He wasn't sure he could pull him back anyway. The cliff edge was of sharp jagged rock. It would cut into the rope, maybe sever it.

This thought suddenly startled Holliman.

He made sure that his end of the rope was tied, then went as close to the edge as he dared.

"Mr. Barry?" he called. No answer. Holliman yelled it, but still got no reply. Then he, too, realized that the wind was whipping the sound away. Sudden alarm struck him. He couldn't see Barry, nor communicate with him.

He did peer over far enough to see Hades Jones running. And the two women were moving about and pointing up. But he was unable to deduce anything from that.

He noticed motion in the rope, and quickly grabbed it.

There were slight regular jerks for a bit. Then a swaying pull, first right then left. In alarm he looked at the rocky edge where the rope disappeared. The fiber was indeed beginning to fray!

Holliman strained to pull it up to a fresh spot, lest it be sawed apart. But Barry was a heavy man, and friction at the rock was too great. "Good Lord!" Holliman growled, genuinely alarmed now. He looked desperately around him.

The man felt peculiarly helpless. He did quickly decide to let out a few inches more of rope—there wasn't very much left—and so put a fresh place on the sharp rock edge. That lessened one danger, he felt.

He shouted again and again, but no answer. The alternate tightening of the rope indicated a swinging away. Holliman's alarm mounted.

Then suddenly the rope slackened. Holliman fell back prone with the sudden give of it. He held it then, limp in his hands, and stared at it.

"Uhhnnnn!" he literally groaned in despair, pulling the loose rope up a few feet. Quickly he turned to go back toward their horses.

PRESENT PROGRAM IN MISSION CITY

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 23.—Demonstrating their ability as hosts to the community the young people of the San Juan Presbyterian Community church presented a program at the monthly church social held at the church recently.

Robert Cook, president of the Christian Endeavor society, introduced Eleanor Hankey, social chairman for the evening, who introduced those taking part in the program. Under the direction of Miss Loreta Bond, musical instructor in the high school, the high school orchestra played several numbers. Community singing was led by Paul Demaree and pantomime singing led by Ralph Demaree.

Miss Mildred Bohn of Miss Dupee's School for girls of Laguna Beach sang, "Rose in the Bud." Two saxophone solo numbers, "Go Along Prairie Moon" and "Peter Piper" were played by Thierry Rogers.

R. O. Grover presented a one-man band arrangement. Following his second encore the Christian Endeavor group sang, "I Ain't Gonna Grieve My Lord No More."

An amusing black-face skit in which Ralph Demaree and Billy Quackenbush took part concluded the program. Robert Cook then took charge as leader of the games that were played preceding the serving of refreshments.

Nobody Loves a Cathartic-Crank!

Most cathartics are habit-forming—in time you must take them oftener and step up the dose. There's no fear of this when you eat a NATURAL laxative food like Kellogg's All-Bran. Instead of over-stimulating your intestines, All-Bran supplies TWO things they need. First, vitamin "B," the amazing vitamin that tones up your intestinal tract. Second, All-Bran provides "bulk"—it absorbs water and softens like a sponge. This water-soaked mass aids elimination. Eat this crunchy, toasted cereal with milk or cream and fruits. In muffins it's delicious. But however you eat it, use it REGULARLY; eat two table-spoons of All-Bran and drink plenty of water. If you do this every day you can avoid common constipation—and cathartics, too! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. At every grocer's.

Sacs To Train At Fullerton?

COACH LASHES DONS; FORSTER AT CENTER JOB

BY DUNCAN CLARK
Santa Ana Jaycee football men were smarting today under a severe tongue-lashing as any Don team ever received from the genial little "man in bronze," Coach Bill Cook.

The general drift of Cook's castigation was: "We play football at Santa Ana Jaycee for the fun we get out of it, but this 'horsing around' has got to stop. We must have more serious thought put to our game with Fullerton Thanksgiving Day or there will be a few boys checking in their suits for the remainder of the season."

Citrus junior college today officially forfeited its final Eastern conference game, scheduled tomorrow night with San Bernardino. Coach Al Claves said it would be physically impossible for his skeleton squad, badly battered in the Santa Ana game two weeks ago, to field a representative lineup.

The forfeit gives San Bernardino an automatic victory and means Santa Ana must defeat Fullerton here Thursday afternoon to tie San Bernardino for the championship. A tie or a loss would eliminate the Dons.

Our game with Fullerton Thanksgiving Day or there will be a few boys checking in their suits for the remainder of the season."

Coach Cook's outburst was brought about by an apparent desire of many of the Don regulars to take a self-satisfied attitude towards their game with the Yellowjackets here Thursday afternoon. Many of the Don regulars as well as reserves were content to take things easy and were held responsible by the Don mentor for one of the sloppiest practice sessions of the season.

While Center Danny Boyd, the little giant-killer, assisted from the sidelines with two cracked ribs, "Pancho" Forster, 225-pound San Juan Capistrano freshman, took over the center duties yesterday on offense. Boyd is probably out for the remainder of the season. Jerry Nesmith, the other injured Don center, was found to have a badly sprained ankle. The possibility of him playing against the Yellowjackets is remote.

Forster was added to the center corps for the purpose of spelling Elmer Casey and Jack Lantz in case they falter. Forster has had considerable experience at this spot, having been named to the All-Orange league prep team last year.

Bill Twist, second string running guard, a former Newport Harbor center, also will be given a whirl at the center post today in order that the Dons will have adequate reserve strength.

Oliver McCarter, who has been out for the better part of two weeks, with an injured knee, reported for the first time since the Riverside game. His knee is still extremely sore. It is doubtful if Coach Cook will take the chance of using him against Fullerton unless it is absolutely necessary.

Don-Hornet tickets on sale here. With the largest crowd to ever attend a football game in Orange county almost a certainty, Don and Fullerton followers were urged again today to buy their tickets in advance in order to avoid congestion at the Municipal Bowl Thanksgiving afternoon.

Tomorrow will be the last chance fans will have at the pre-game sale of tickets, junior college officials said. The tickets are on sale at Al's Lock and Key Shop and Victor Walker's sporting goods store. Admission to all but grammar school students is 50 cents. Kids will be admitted for 25 cents.

DiMaggio's 'Grotto' Just Like DiMaggio

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SAN FRANCISCO—To anyone who did not see the last world series there would be no special significance in the decorative motif of Joe DiMaggio's bistro, hard by Fisherman's Wharf in this, one of the loveliest of cities.

To the unknowning eye "Joe DiMaggio's Grotto" would be just another stucco bit of architecture, near where the gulls circle and cry, and the little multi-colored fishing boats start out for the trip through the Golden Gate to the open sea.

But to a man who saw the last world series, and the butchery of the Giants by the Yankees, the "Grotto" is an arresting from facade to the miniature waterfall that cools the fevered brows of the Martini drinkers deep inside.

The first thing that catches the eye is an outdoor, swinging fisherman. The fisherman is Joe DiMaggio. The substitution of fisherman for DiMaggio is a little thing, but it is a thing. The fisherman looks the same as Joe does when he stands in the outfield for the Yankees. The stance is identical.

The fish, on the other hand, fishes—those one-out-of-a-million that are so easy to identify. But I immediately recognized it as one of those rare fish—a Terry fish. A Bill Terry fish. To be sure I climbed the side of the building in order to touch it. Sure enough, it was ice cold and did not blink its eyes. "A Terry fish, for sure," I said as I slid down.

Inside the tavern the Yankee-Giant motif was emphasized throughout. The murals on the wall were the first thing I noticed. The murals portrayed rather ineffectual waves battering their heads against rock-bound coasts. No one had to tell me that the rocks represented the Yankees and the futile little waves stood for the Giants. As I stood there and admired the murals my mind wandered back to the world series, and I saw the Giants trying for one run against the Yanks.

In another room the central decoration is a marine picture showing a lonely and bedraggled soul, adrift on the ocean atop a capsized canoe. To those who know the giants, and their peerless leader, this could symbolize but one thing. The canoe represented Hubbell—the "meal ticket"—after his defeat in the first game. The lone soul was Terry, riding, as always, his lone hope. He must sink or swim with Hubbell.

Even the menu carries on, to my mind at least, the symbolism. One of the featured dishes is "DiMaggio's special chippolino." Now that could be but one thing. That home run Joe belted against the Giants in the last game, with a few base hits as garnishes.

TUSTIN'S GRID TEAM DISBANDS

Unable to get any satisfaction out of the C.I.F. on a time or place for a Minor division playoff, Tustin High school's championship football squad and announced that the Tilters would begin basketball practice immediately.

Point Loma of the Metropolitan league was the only team apparently interested in the "small schools" playoff, and it could not get together with Tustin on a date because of conflicting games scheduled in the San Diego region this week end.

Tustin is defending champion of Southern California in basketball and Coach Cole has back three regulars from last year's sensational outfit. Of course, the Farmers are bound to miss the departed pair—Sam and Paul Francis. However, Lawrence Monroy and Walt and Vic Linker give Tustin the groundwork for another potent lineup. Leading candidates include Millard Foster and Perry Cooper, substitutes last season; Bob Marshall, John Balzer, Ambrose Galidan and Joe Kiersey of the Class B team that barely lost the Orange league title, and Everett Winkler and Ray Herrera, freshmen.

Cole has scheduled a workout at Huntington Beach Dec. 3 and will enter the Southern Counties tournament there Dec. 16-17-18.

In a minor upset, the Church of Brethren's basketball team scored a 22-16 victory over M. E. South in the first game of the Y. M. C. A. league's triple-header last night on the "Y" floor.

The league—leading Wilson's Dairy team had little trouble shelling Patterson's Dairy, 22-12, in the second game.

DUCKS HAGGLE OVER DETAILS; REPORTED OUT

Sacramento's Senators of the Pacific Coast league may be invited to do their spring training at Amerige park in Fullerton.

Difficulties with the Portland Beaver management regarding financial arrangements have delayed the proposed contract for return of Portland to Fullerton next March.

P. G. Bartelme, president of the Sacramento club, and Branch Rickney of the St. Louis Cardinals, who dictates Sacramento policies, have long been eager to come to Fullerton. They were not satisfied with their season at Riverside last spring, it was said.

Right now a decision on the Portland matter is hanging fire with E. A. Scheffer, president of the Portland club, demanding some sort of action. Scheffer also is insisting that the field be turned over without any expense to his club, which the council has hesitated to do.

Sacramento also seeks a mid-winter training camp period for the Fullerton field. Dec. 27 to 31, inclusive, at which boys from all over Southern California are expected. This program will probably go through whether the spring training plans develop or not.

Way Keichner, Sacramento and Cardinal scout, was in Fullerton yesterday regarding the midwinter camp and was questioned regarding the spring training possibilities. Negotiations with Sacramento, which will have to be confirmed by Rickney at St. Louis, were started by the chamber of commerce and others interested in baseball. Word from Sacramento is expected early next week.

At Sacramento camp last spring in Riverside, all members of Cardinal chain clubs living in the west gathered for the training season, being assigned to other clubs from that point by Rickney and his assistants, who supervised nearly 150 young ball players personally.

There is nothing wrong with boys traveling 1000 miles or more to go to college.

Many college boys like to get away from home. They wish to see something different than the school in the old home town or 100 miles down state. It possibly might be that their parents at the school they pick, or that friends happen to be going there.

High school coaches often like to see their stars pack off to the school they attended, and high school boys usually are easy marks for their coaches. They listen to them.

The PAYOFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)
That much ado about nothing much at the University of Michigan only indicates that proselyting alumni should know their schools.

Before hustling a good football team, old grads, unable to take it and too impatient to permit nature to take its course, first ought to make sure that their dear old alma matters want a first-rate club obtained in that fashion.

Certainly, young football players should not be humiliated after being rushed by enthusiastic alumni to colleges not their natural choice.

Tom Harmon of Gary, Ind., and two or three boys from Kiski Prep School were so outstanding among Michigan freshmen that their presence started reports of subsidization.

This may have been due to the scarcity of topnotch prospects at Michigan for the last four seasons.

Anyway, it seems that young Harmon took exception to the rumors, and sought to make it clear that Michigan wasn't the only place where he could have obtained his higher education.

Harmon flashed a telegram from Bill Bevan, former All-America guard at Minnesota, now coaching the Tuane line, advising him that "your offer still stands," and that "your help at a simon-pure school always will be subject to criticism."

There was considerable shopping for Harmon. The Michigan Daily printed a photographing of the message, and quoted Harmon as saying that before entering the university last fall he had "offers" from five Big Ten schools and several other leading colleges. The paper named Purdue, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana State, Yale, Princeton, Southern California, Pittsburgh, Cornell, Washington and Michigan State.

There undoubtedly was considerable shopping, but Harmon landed at Michigan. A four-sportman at Gary, Ind., Harmon a year ago was described by Fielding H. Yost, veteran Wolverine athletic director, as "the nation's outstanding high school athlete."

Now, there was nothing wrong with Harmon hopping from Gary, Ind., to Ann Arbor, Mich., to attend college.

STATEMENT ON STANDARDS BY U. C. CONFUSING

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
CHICAGO—Pittsburgh and Fordham stood out today among 24 Bowl candidates as the key teams to the New Year's Day post-season football games.

The Panthers and the Rams who played a scoreless tie with each other and won all the rest of their games, are under consideration for all four major Bowl games—Rose, Sugar, Cotton and Orange. Each has one game left, Pitt with Duke, at Durham, N. C., and Fordham with New York U. at New York.

It seems fairly certain that either Pitt or Fordham, providing they win their final tests, will meet California, already named to represent the West, in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena. Pitt apparently has the inside track despite the fact that California authorities confused the situation by announcing the Eastern school picked must have standards similar to California's. Members of the California squad picked Pitt in a straw vote.

There is a possibility that Pitt, even if selected, may not go to the Rose Bowl. Last year Pitt was invited to the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans before getting the Rose Bowl bid. Pittsburgh authorities may feel that they owe something to the Sugar Bowl for turning down last year's bid. In addition the shorter distance to travel would be a factor.

A Pitt-Alabama game in the Sugar Bowl would overshadow the Rose Bowl attraction regardless of what Eastern team California selected. Alabama has to get by Vanderbilt Thanksgiving Day to complete its season unbeaten and untied.

If Pitt goes to the Rose Bowl game, Fordham is almost certain to go to the Sugar Bowl and vice versa. Alabama appears to be the third choice for the Rose Bowl and the No. 1 choice to represent the South in the Sugar Bowl providing the Crimson Tide wins the Southeastern title by defeating Vanderbilt.

A roundup of the bowl game possibilities follows:

Eight candidates under consideration to represent East against California, which has been named to represent the West. The leading possibilities are Pitt, Fordham, Alabama, Villanova, Duke, with outside chances accorded Vanderbilt, Holy Cross and Lafayette. Duke is a dark horse with its chances based solely on a victory over Pitt Saturday.

CROSS-COUNTRY IS NEW SAINT SPORT

Cross-country running, a new sport at Santa Ana high school but part of the regular sports program among Citrus Belt league teams (of which Santa Ana is the new member) gets its official inauguration tomorrow when Coach Reese Greene sends his leather-lunged to the post in three-lap trials.

Twelve boys are out for the sport according to Coach Greene. The Saints will be gunning for the all-Citrus Belt league cross-country league title which is scheduled to be run at Riverside Dec. 15.

"The trial distance will be increased each week until the date of the Citrus Belt cross country finals," Greene said.

The 12 Saints now out for the sport are: Mike Reyes, Harry Stephenson, Richard Ladiges, Salvador Meraz, Rupert Pocock, Jack Granados, Bernie Granados, Byron Bates, Harold Montana, and Tony Macias.

HAWAIIANS CANCEL 2 STANFORD GAMES

HONOLULU—Stanford's proposed football games with Hawaiian teams here Christmas and New Years Day have been canceled. Coach Otto Klum said today a change in boat schedules which would prevent the Stanford squad from arriving before December 29 was given as the reason for canceling the games.

THIS IS THE END
Purdue is claiming the biggest end in football. He is Bill Verane, 240-pound right flanker from Michigan City, Ind.

SOUTHPAW BOOTER
Elliot Hooper, Cornell's star guard who drops out of line to do the punting for the Big Red, is considered the best left-footed kicker in the nation.

KOEGLER CALLS OUT SAINT BASKETEERS

Coach Joe Koegler, who will tutor the sophomore team as well as the varsity, today called out basketball players of Santa Ana high school.

His squad will be small at the outset because many prospective floorballers are still tied up with football, but practice will be held three times this week and daily thereafter.

Gene O'Campo and Pete Partida are the returning regulars although Bill Musick and Milton Smith will be available until mid-year graduation. Melvin Barron and Carl Smith were on the squad last season. Promising "B" men are Maurice Young, Dick O'Neill and Gilbert Trujillo.

Coach Koegler has scheduled a game with Excelsior here Dec. 10 and plans to send a squad to the Southern Counties tournament at Huntington Beach later next month. Santa Ana's season in the Citrus Belt league begins with Chaffey here January 7. Two rounds are scheduled.

Two 'Rabbit Stars' Out Of Saint Game

Hopes for a Santa Ana high school victory over Long Beach Saturday, none too bright at best, jumped a few points today when it was learned that two Jackrabbits regulars—Gene Pickett and Leonard Tucker—would not see action against the Saints in the Municipal Bowl here Saturday afternoon.

Pickett, a left-handed passing quarterback, and Tucker, best end in the Coast league, were the two players who collaborated in Santa Ana's 12-2 defeat in an early season contest at Long Beach. Pickett's back was hurt in the Woodrow Wilson game. Tucker is out for the season with a broken arm. A six-foot-two end, Tucker had caught five touchdowns passes for the Jackrabbits.

Coach Orian Landreth said LaDusky McKowan, Negro speed-burner, would start at quarterback against Santa Ana. Knowlton, a high class reserve, takes over Tucker's wing post.

Long Beach brings here another outstanding squad, although observers doubt if it has quite the power or depth of the mighty elephants Landreth coached to Southern California titles in 1936, 1934, 1930 and 1929. The Jackrabbits record: Long Beach 21, Redondo Beach 6; Long Beach 15, Santa Ana 2; Long Beach 6, Loyola 7; Long Beach 18, San Diego 6; Long Beach 14, Hoover (San Diego) 6; Long Beach 13, Bakersfield 6; Long Beach 21, Woodrow Wilson 0; Long Beach 12, Alhambra 0.

The Hares have won the football championship of the Coast league for the past four years in a row.

Yesterday was a comparatively easy day for Coach Bill Footes hopeful Santa Ana because photographers were on the field taking pictures for the school annual, the Ariel. As a whole, the Saint troupe is in good shape, only Center Harry Ashen and Quarterback George Higgash being out of the Long Beach conflict. Footes had big Ralph Schellenberger alternating with Bob Webb at center in practice yesterday.

Shallenberger's agility and height (he's 6'4") makes him an ideal defensive man against passes, and Footes expects Long Beach to capitalize on what has been a definite Saint defensive weakness to date.

'WE'LL GO TO THE AIR' SAYS PICKENS

FULLERTON—Somewhat recuperated from a hectic season, the Fullerton Yellowjackets today pointed for their annual "grudge battle" at Santa Ana Thursday.

Coach Wendell Pickens, armed with a notebook full of Don formations, has devised a number of defensive plays with which he hopes his light Hornet aggregation can stop the league-leaders' power attack.

The youthful mentor was perplexed by Bill Cook's spread formation off which the Dons run their touchdown plays. He went into a huddle with Art Nunn, whose Yellowjackets held their own with the Dons for seven years.

The Yellowjackets will be in top shape for this all-important contest Thanksgiving day. The battered gridders have benefited by their rest.

"We're going to take to the air," Pickens predicted, "I don't care if they throw passes on three out of four downs, if they don't let them get hold of them."

Both Aubrey Minter, scintillating quarterback, and Roy Parker, tall, slender Placentian, threw passes all over the lot last night as the Hornets went through their new aerial formations.

"All Started 'Way Back" About The Big Persimmons!

No one in Santa Ana raises small persimmons! Apparently every persimmon raised this year is of outstanding size. It all started last week when a woman claimed the unofficial record for large persimmons. Hardly had her claim been published than record breaking persimmons flooded the chamber of commerce office.

Today the record breaking fruit was brought to the Register office. Herman Trotter, 926 South Garnsey street, produced two persimmons, each one measuring 12 1/2 inches in circumference and weighing more than one pound each. Now Trotter claims the unofficial record.

GRAND ESTATE OF BONAPARTE IN RUINS NOW

BORDENTOWN, N. J.—(UP)—Point Breeze, the country estate that was home to Joseph Bonaparte, Comte de Surville and former king of Naples and of Spain, during 20 years of his exile, has been sold under the auctioneer's hammer.

Little remains on the dilapidated estate to identify it as the American home of Napoleon's brother. A beautiful artificial lake once dotted with swans and pleasure craft is a dry, weed-filled depression, remnants of the lake house crumbling at one edge.

The lake house was built by Joseph for his daughter, the Princess Zenside, and nearby is the entrance to a subterranean passage which he built to protect her from bad weather on her frequent visits to her father's home, of which there is no trace. The stone-lined passage now is clogged by debris and earth 20 feet from its entrance.

Destroyed by Fire in 1820

Joseph's first home was destroyed by fire in 1820, but there remains no trace today of the manor house he built to replace it. The only house at Point Breeze now is a mansion built 80 years ago and remodeled in 1912 by Harris Hammond, son of the late mining engineer, John Hay Hammond.

The Speediest of ALL Fuels is Natural Gas!

GREATER SPEED in your fuel service means more hours for you—more hours to spend with your family, more time for relaxation. Add up the time natural gas saves you—hours each week. It wastes no time warming up. It performs all its tasks quicker because it gives full heat—much or little—the instant you want it.

More important, you pay no premium for the extra speed, extra convenience, and dependability of natural gas. It costs only about one-half as much as the next most convenient energy.

Enjoy all the benefits of natural gas. Ask your dealer or gas company to demonstrate its use in the newest appliances. Modern gas equipment may be purchased on surprisingly easy terms.

Jimmie Fidler
...in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 23.—The other day I heard a big shot producer complain tearfully that there are just two great actors on the screen—Paul Muni and Spencer Tracy. All of the others he dismissed with one sweep as "types"—people who are capable of playing only one kind of role. Personally, I wouldn't blame any one of a hundred actors and actresses for putting ground glass in that producer's getupfuss.

The fact is that only two or three of the screen's capable actors are ever allowed to show their ability. The others, having clicked in some one role, are forever doomed by the greed of the producers to go on playing the same role through one picture after another, until the public gets fed up and turns thumbs down on it. Formula pictures are the curse of Hollywood—and the death warrants of many fine actors who, given the chance, might prove themselves just as versatile as either Muni or Tracy. Bob Montgomery was kept in wisecracking, sappy, roles until he decided he was "through" and then, believing that there was nothing left to lose, they let him play the half-witted murderer in "Night Must Fall." Maybe the picture was a box-office failure—but if Bob Montgomery's performance was not a masterpiece, I think I should quit reviewing pictures. This town is full of great stage stars—actors who played every type of role imaginable on the "legit" but who are kept in just one popular characterization by the censors of picturedom.

Muni and Tracy are lucky: If they had made a hit by wiggling their ears in their first pictures—they would still be doing it.

Chatted with a very disgruntled young lady named Shirley Ross today. Shirley's idea of a good time has always been a good trip—ever since childhood, she has been reading National Geographic Magazine and dreaming of far-away lands. Only in recent months, however, have her finances made the dreams seem practical. Not long ago, with all of her fellow stars taking up the fact of giving presents to the other members of their troupes on the completion of a picture, Shirley decided to give away trips. She presented her hairdresser with an all-expense tour of the Pacific coast, her secretary with a jaunt to New York and her parents with a European vacation. For herself, she reserved passage to Honolulu. And then irony, in the form of Mr. Paramount, stepped in. The others took their trips and came back bubbling with enthusiasm. Shirley had to cancel her reservations and stand by for an unexpected screen assignment.

"My favorite hunting ground for 'human interest' stories is a little second-hand clothes store near one of the big studios. Today the proprietor told me about selling a tuxedo to the mate of an Italian tramp steamer. 'While he waited for the suit to be altered,' said the clothes vendor, 'he talked to me in broken English. He had always wanted to see movie stars and he was spending his roll to do it. He told me he had a girl in San Pedro and he was going to take her to the Trocadero because he had read about all the stars going there to dance. Maybe I should have told him about it.' 'About what?' I asked. 'The importance of a dramatic climax, and he waited for an artistic moment before answering. 'Maybe,' he said, 'I should have told him that that tuxedo once belonged to John Bowers, who committed suicide because he lost his star-dom.'"

The other day I presented a studio publicity story as the all-time, prize winning masterpiece in unbelievable hokey. But there's another "news note" in this morning's drivel that has it topped. This little classic informs the world that Bette Davis, vacationing in the mountains, took a sun bath and the sun, filtering down through the branches of a tree, burned on her back her own initials, a perfect B and a perfect D. Unfortunately the item neglected to state whether or not the sun had also placed periods after the initials.

Iona Mason, MGM's newest import, makes heroic effort to speak English and a still more heroic effort to hide the fact that she understands it not at all. She has a formula: Whenever anyone says anything to her, she simply takes it for granted that it is something nice, smiles sweetly and expresses gratification in the few English words at her command. Today on the set, director Van Dyke put her to the test. "Get in there and play this scene right—or I'll hang one on your pretty chin," he said.

VOCATIONAL PROGRAM TO OPEN SOON*SCHOOL BOARD ACTION CLEARS WAY FOR WORK

Approval of W. W. Wieman, principal of Lathrop evening high school, as supervisor of the vocational classes for apprentice training in the Santa Ana adult education department, was given by the board of education last night in a discussion of the matter with City Superintendent Frank Henderson.

Two classes of training will be offered, Henderson said, one being for craftsmen already in a trade, who wish to extend their training; the other for "indentured" young men who would spend five years in training under the local instructors.

Cites Cost Plan
J. C. Beswick, head of the state department of vocational education, which aids the local vocational training programs, has promised his department will pay one-fourth of the cost of instructors, besides allowing the regular average daily attendance allocation of state funds.

Henderson stated today that the vocational classes will be carried on similarly to the other vocational courses now included in the adult education program.

To Begin Tuesday
Arrangement to institute a class for training of custodians, which begins next Tuesday, has won commendation, said Henderson, who quoted Mrs. Mae B. Geeting, of the grand jury's schools committee, as expressing praise for the project.

PLAYS FOR FUN

Loretta and her mother were talking about Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers. "I could hardly believe my ears," said Loretta, "when suddenly that twelve-year-old girl interrupted. 'Who,' she asked, 'is Mary Pickford?'"

STATE'S FUEL TAX FOR YEAR AT HIGH MARK

For the first time in the history of the state, California's gasoline tax will probably exceed $50,000,000, it was indicated today in a report made by the State Board of equalization.

The motor vehicle fuel tax amounted to $4,308,581.23 for the month of October to bring the total for the 10-month period up to $42,968,661.33. The tax netted the state slightly more than $48,000,000 in 1936, according to Board records.

The October tax was assessed on the distribution of 143,619,376 gallons of gasoline. It represented a gain of 2.81 per cent over the same month for 1936, and was slightly under the assessment reported for September.

Oil companies reporting sales of more than 300,000 gallons during October were listed by the board with the explanation that resale of gasoline previously taxed and exempt sales to the federal government or in interstate or foreign commerce accounted for differences between total sales and taxable sales.

PREPAREDNESS VITAL--SLOGAN OF RED CROSS

"Preparedness for disaster, at home or elsewhere, is emphasized during the Red Cross Roll Call, November 11-25, Colonel M. B. Wellington of the Disaster Preparedness Committee of the Santa Ana Chapter said today.

At the same time he made it known that since 1881, when disaster relief was the first humanitarian work of the Red Cross, it has carried relief, such as food, clothing, shelter, medical aid, rehabilitation of homes and families to more than 2,000 scenes of disaster, large and small.

Policies Worked Out
During the past 56 years the Red Cross has expended $133,000,000 in this single phase of its mercy work.

He also said that the Red Cross policies of relief have been worked out over the years through actual experience of its workers in the field. Relief is given on the basis of need to the sufferers—not on their losses.

Meet in December
Colonel Wellington pointed out that loans are never made to the disaster sufferers, the relief being a gift from the Red Cross in the name of its members and the people of the United States.

Every dollar contributed for disaster relief is accounted for to Congress through a War Department audit, as are all other Red Cross finances.

CITY EMPLOYEES SET PACE IN FINGERPRINTING OFFERED TO PUBLIC BY SANTA ANA POLICE

Fingerprinting and "mugging" of every city employee was under way today at police headquarters as a means of identification. The police department already is fingerprinted 100 per cent and employees of other departments are being fingerprinted and their pictures taken under supervision of Detective Lieutenant Charles Wolford.

Members of the fire and street departments were among the first to submit to the program. When the fingerprints and pictures are taken, they will be placed on official identification cards with information about the question in person.

Copies Sent Out
One card will be carried by the individuals, while one copy is retained for local police department files, another is sent to state police headquarters, Sacramento, and another is sent to the Federal Bureau of Identification, Washington, D. C.

Name, age, personal description, picture of person's face and right index finger are on the identification cards. Between 20 and 30 persons were fingerprinted and "mugged" yesterday morning. Others will submit to the program today.

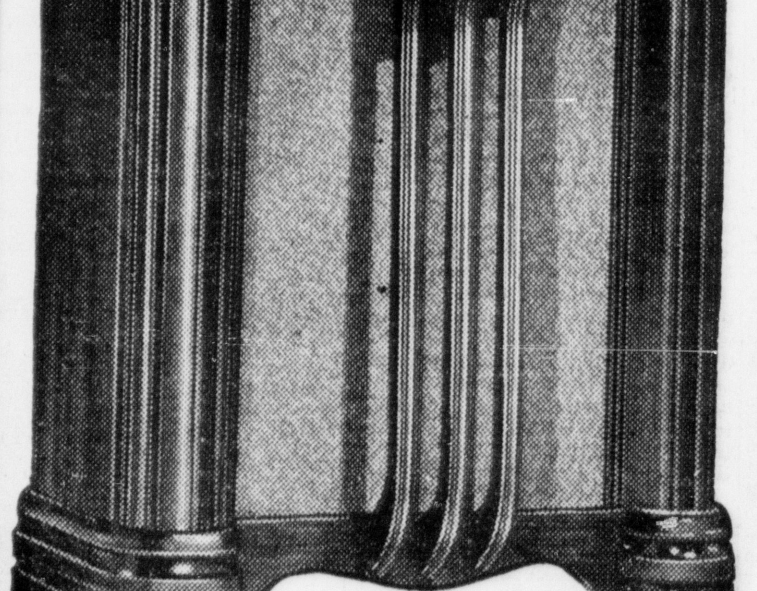

The Red Cross is able to handle vast relief projects through the volunteer help of thousands of men and women everywhere, and through its ability to borrow trained workers from other agencies, to supplement its own staff of trained disaster relief workers.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Annual Spanish Dinner And Bazaar Draw 300 Guests

Following a successful Spanish dinner at which they entertained 300 guests last night in Knights of Columbus hall, members of Santa Ana parlor Native Daughters of the Golden West today were in possession of a generous sum to be used in carrying out the homeless children's project of the organization.

The party came as an annual holiday event, drawing a number of visitors from Native Daughters' parlors throughout the Southland, as well as local guests. Mrs. Walter Hickey, general chairman, worked with assistance of the parlor president, Mrs. Arthur Edwards, Mrs. W. A. West, and many other members. Mrs. Carl Schroeder was dining room chairman; Mrs. Mildred Wheeler and Miss Gladys Edwards were in charge of decorations.

The hall presented a festive setting. Gourds and fruits were heaped in mounds on the long tables, with colorful tapers adding to the setting. As guests arrived between 6 and 7:30 o'clock, dinner was served.

There were many special features to occupy the visitors both before and after dinner. Mrs. Hazel Flaherty had arranged for the telling of fortunes at one booth. There was a fish pond, with Miss Dawn Hunting in charge. Mrs. D. W. Ellis supervised the candy booth; Mrs. Albert Dresser, popcorn; Mrs. Eunice Fox, art and needlework. Various articles on which the Daughters have been working for the past few months were displayed and sold. It was announced that the sale of bazaar articles suitable for Christmas gifts will continue from now until late December, with a display arranged at the home of Mrs. Fox, 2084 South Main street.

Climaxing the affair was dancing. Grand prize of the evening, a turkey, was won by Mrs. Horace Head.

Musicians Entertain At Turkey Dinner

Giving a pre-Thanksgiving dinner for their families, members of Bob Richardson's orchestra entertained Sunday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Laub, 114 Owens Drive.

Yellow and brown was the motif observed in decorative details at the long table where turkey dinner was served.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Richardson and sons, Duane, Arlin and Rodney; Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Ericks, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lamb and son, Bobbie; Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Rogers, Randall Gardner, Wayne Richardson; with Mr. and Mrs. Dean Laub and their daughter, Miss Ladean Laub.

COUNTRY CLUB DANCE

With one Sunday night buffet supper to recall and another to anticipate, and with the joy of a holiday feast in prospect for Thursday Country club members have yet another pleasant event of the week's calendar to anticipate in the holiday dance to be staged Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Emission and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jordan were hosts at the Sunday night supper, which offered its usual informal charm to many members dropping in at the close of a long drive—sometimes by automobile and sometimes by golf club. Host duties for Friday night's dancing party will be assumed by Mr. and Mrs. Dean Collier and Mr. and Mrs. Fay Hochstrasser. Lee Mann's Sunny Californians will provide the dance music.

Although members of Delta Chi Sigmas sorority enjoyed a holiday party last night in the home of Miss Marie McGinnis, 1220 South Van Ness avenue, they devoted part of the time to completion of plans for a benefit dance to be held Saturday evening in Huntington Beach Memorial hall.

Miss Kathleen Maddock is general chairman of the affair, which will be open to the public. This will be a sports dance beginning at 9 o'clock. Miss Marie McGinnis, music chairman, announced that Jim Armstrong's Long Beach orchestra will play. The Misses Carol Smith and Lois Wagner are in charge of decorations and all members of the chapter have tickets for distribution.

Last night's party began with the serving of dessert at tables brightened with fall leaves. Nut cups were designed as turkey figures. Prizes in court whist were won by the Misses Carol Smith and Eileen McCollum.

Present were the Misses Alberta Greene, Kathleen Maddock, Alice Martin, Frances Roberts, Carol Smith, Ruth Souder, Lois Wagner, Margaret Westover, Vivienne White, Dorothy Dietler, Eileen McCollum, Nadine Johnson, Florence Allen; Mesdames Corwin Frazer, Lloyd Manderscheid, William Rasmussen, Richard Bradley and the hostess, Miss McGinnis.

So frequently opened for hospitable affairs, the nurses' home at Orange County General hospital, again was scene late last week of a meeting of Nurses' District 16, with Miss Grace Elizabeth Lane, ing and a group of student nurses entertaining.

These student nurses had planned a pleasant program as entertainment, opening with two piano solos played by Miss Erna Kulinsbeck. An amusing skit was presented by the Misses Barbara Fennmore and Claire Harvey, followed by a book review given by Mrs. Mabel Dixon, of the Home Teaching department.

For the remainder of the evening, guests enjoyed a social program to which their hostesses contributed a dainty refreshment interval, with Miss Phoebe Clark as mistress of ceremonies.

Present in addition to Miss Lansing, superintendent of nurses at the County hospital, and her class members were the Misses Dora Jean Kenner, Elizabeth Johnston, Laura Hansen, Rose Mouch, Patricia Stewart, Lila Borden, Elizabeth Praener, Pauline Thomas, Helen Nes, Opal Wolfe, Carolyn Larsen, Gladys Gittis, DeLores Hernandez, Lenore Terrell, Mary Elaine Brown, Vivian Watkins, Dewey Neumeier, Mesdames Thelma Turpin, Lydia Maupin, Ida Edwards, Alice Theal, Lydia Olson, Nina Manire, Rose Jackson, Ramona Nelson, Julia Saulsbury, Elizabeth Eisenbraun, Carmen Luke, Bessie Byram, Antoinette Prints, May Venable, Mabel Grouard and Grete Dale.

Study Section Holds Final 1937 Event

Assembling for their final meeting of 1937, members of Woman's club Study section shared a varied program of current events and interesting discussion yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. P. R. Arnold, 628 East Chestnut street.

Covered-dish luncheon was served at noon. Current events which members contributed, dealt with the Sino-Japanese situation for the most part. Mrs. Arnold reviewed another chapter from the section's study book, "Growing into Life" by David Seabury. Mrs. E. G. Maier talked on Emily Post's latest book.

Present with Mrs. Arnold were Mesdames Mary Fairbanks, C. W. Clarke, E. G. Maier, C. H. Stanley, C. F. Crose, Raymond McMahon, M. O. Wells and George De Rouillac.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, January 26 in the home of Mrs. De Rouillac.

Although there were reports of skyarks on Long Island as late as 1907, the species is now extinct in America, so far as is known.

Miss Virginia Downing Is Bride at Baptist Church Rites

Nuptials of Miss Virginia Lee Downing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Downing, 222 South Birch street and Charles Boyd Carnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Carnett of Tulsa, Okla., were given the formal setting of First Baptist church Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

A lighted cross formed a background for other altar appointments, with trelis, garden gate and greenery enhancing the effect of tall baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums. Cathedral tapers gleamed on the charming scene.

Miss Mildred Marchant was at the organ, playing the Wedding Marches in addition to accompaniment for the soloist, Miss Beulah Parker. Her numbers were "Will You Remember" from Matinee by Romberg and "I Love You Truly" (Bond).

Bridal Party

The Rev. Harry Evan Owens read the ceremony during which Mr. Downing gave his young daughter in marriage. The bride wore formal white satin and a graceful veil in halo arrangement with orange blossoms. Gardenias and lilies of the valley formed her bouquet. Attendants were Mrs. Mary Dubin, matron of honor, wearing blue lace; Miss Mary Elizabeth Coffman, maid of honor, in peach brocade chiffon; the Misses Lenora Marchant and Dorothy Gamm in green moire. Each carried a nosegay of Tallman roses, sweet peas and yellow chrysanthemums. Flower girls were the Misses Marian Richards and Marian Hooper, wearing blue net ruffled frocks and carrying big balls of blossoms. The bridegroom's brother, Edwin Carnett was best man. Ushers were Alfred Dubin, Edward Dubin, Harold Richards and Royce Edson. Candle-lighters were the Misses Dorothy Parker and Pauline Cave.

The Downing home was scene of a reception during which wedding cake was served with fruit punch. Mrs. Downing wore navy blue velvet with gardenias. In the absence of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. L. E. Coffman stood in the receiving line, wearing rust-hued net over taffeta with gardenias.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Carnett donned a brown suit with gold blouse and brown accessories, with a smart fur coat. She and the bridegroom left for Tulsa to visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Carnett. After a month's stay in Oklahoma and Missouri, they will return to Santa Ana to make their home. Mr. Carnett is with Washington Cleaners. He is president of the Baptist Young People's Union and his bride is social chairman of the Young People's choir of First Baptist church.

Carden Home is Scene Of Two Successive Hospitalityes

Although proximity of Thanksgiving, absence from the city and other circumstances depleted the ranks of Tuesday Dinner Bridge club for the advanced meeting date last night, the little group that dined together as guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carden, found the evening one of friendly hospitality. Dinner itself was enjoyed at Danigers, and then the party repaired to the Carden home, 721 South Rose street, to take part in contract play amidst the cheerful arrangement of cotoneaster sprays brightening the home. With the hosts were Major and Mrs. M. Burr Wellington, Mrs. Emrys D. White, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Spurgeon and Mrs. A. C. Abbott. Mr. White of course, was absent because business in detaining him in Montana. The Lloyd Chenoweths and the Terry Stephensons were other absent members.

This was the week's second hospitality in the Carden home, for on Sunday a pleasant little family gathering was staged in compliment to Mr. Carden's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Carden. Flowers and scarlet-berried shrubbery lent their autumnal charm to the home and to the table where dinner was served. Completing the group with the hosts and their daughter and son, Dorothy and Bill Carden, and the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Carden, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hood of Irvine, Mrs. Hood was the former Helen Carden, sister of Lester Carden.

Not the True Me, Says Connie

Is this a "true portrait" of Constance Bennett, beautiful blond movie star? You can be an unofficial judge in Hollywood court action over the above painting. Artist Willy Fogarty, who created it, is demanding Constance pay $3500 for her soul, her spirit and her aura as done in oils. But practical Connie says maybe her soul is there, but she can't see her eyes, her mouth, or even her hands in Fogarty's work. Connie has refused to accept the portrait.

Church Societies

Section Group

Thirty or more Northeast section members of First Presbyterian Aid society were entertained the past week in the home of Mrs. George Munro, 1722 Bush street. Mrs. J. R. Goodwin conducted the meeting in the absence of the leader, Mrs. Frank Leonard. Devotionals were led by Mrs. M. E. Bowman.

Special features of the afternoon included Mrs. Munro's display of beautiful articles which she had collected last summer in the Orient, and a cooked food and apron sale which netted a nice sum for the section treasury.

Nut bread sandwiches, doughnuts, coffee and stuffed dates formed a tempting refreshment course served by the hostess committee. Mrs. A. J. Alberts was chairman of this group, assisted by Mesdames J. R. Goodwin, M. B. Youell, L. L. Whitson, and J. F. Talbott.

Non-section guests entertained were Mesdames A. J. Beckman, E. C. Hunter, W. W. Anderson, Antonia Was, C. H. Baird, C. N. Archer, and Miss Jennie Kroese.

Southwest Section

Dimes and their increase were placed in a silver horn of plenty, with each member contributing poems or songs of Thanksgiving theme. Cake topped with whipped cream was served by Mrs. L. M. Forsey. Miss Louise Brokaw, Mrs. Edwin McCadden, Mrs. A. V. Grey, Miss Nellie Forbes and Mrs. H. M. Johnson.

Presbyterian Aid

With interest at present directed toward the Orient because of war conditions there it was especially valuable to Southeast section members of First Presbyterian Aid society to hear Mrs. S. A. Jones describe scenes in the Orient as she saw them last summer and which are completely changed now by the Sino-Japanese conflict.

The occasion was the November meeting of the section for which Mrs. E. C. McKinstry opened her home, 705 Hickory street. Mrs. Jones was chief speaker of the afternoon, and in addition to her talk had on display many lovely mementoes of her summer travels.

Two newcomers to the city from Portland, Ore., Mrs. Parker and her daughter, Miss Parker, were accorded friendly welcome to the meeting, and shared with members their appreciation of the program and of the lovely flowers which lent Thanksgiving atmosphere to the home. This same holiday spirit

Navy Blue and Pink Provides Theme For Party

Navy blue and pink formed the effective decorative motif observed by Miss Lucille Howell in details of a party which she gave Monday evening in her home, 709 East Walnut street in compliment to Miss Norma Wilson, fiancée of Howard Fitzgerald.

Miss Josephine Mogan received a vial of perfume, and Miss Erlene Farmer, note paper, as scorers in one of the contests of the evening. Miss Margaret Baker's reward for winning in another game was costume jewelry.

Preceding the games Miss Howell served two course refreshments at a large table spread with a navy blue cloth and centered with pink chrysanthemums and bachelor buttons. Lighted tapers and blue and pink glassware were in keeping with the chosen theme. Facing Miss Wilson was a miniature bride in formal attire.

Miscellaneous gifts were showered upon the bride-elect by the group, who included the Misses Josephine Mogan, Erlene Farmer, Margaret Baker, Julienne Wolven, Alice Boyd, Ercy Garver, Frances Murphy, La Verne Stewart, Mrs. Jesse Maret and the hostess, Miss Howell.

Legion Mothers Enjoy
Advance Observance
Of Thanksgiving

Quite definitely in holiday mood yesterday, Legion Mothers' club members staged their annual Thanksgiving dinner in connection with their all-day meeting in Veterans' hall. Contributing to the pleasure of the day were chrysanthemums in every color and form, most of which were provided by Mrs. Charles V. Soper, a close neighbor of one of the prominent mothers, Mrs. M. F. Leach.

Many of the members spent the forenoon putting tiny stitches into a beautiful quilt, while others chose the more ordinary carpet rag sewing. All paused at noon for a true holiday feast, for which tables were arranged in the lounge near the quilting frames. Mrs. Leach and Mrs. Nannie Lester aided the dining room committee, Elma McKay, Mary Sue Faught and Edith Getty in preparation and serving of the delectable chicken dinner.

Mrs. Amy Stewart, president, introduced several guests at the conclusion of a cheerful talk in which she stressed the importance of the holiday, and the spirit of Thanksgiving which all should feel at this season, especially in this country. Among guests was her own daughter-in-law, Mrs. Laurence Stewart, Mrs. Adeline Shuplery, a member of Legion auxiliary; Mrs. Faught, who while not a member, always assists in such meetings; Clay Minnix of the Veterans' hall, of whom Mrs. Stewart declared "We could not carry on without him," and Eleanor Young Elliott.

Two members absent because of illness, Mrs. Margaret Hill and Mrs. Stanza Penn, were reported as improving, and trays laden with the delectable dishes of the menu were sent to them. Mrs. Stewart conducted a short business session at the close of the afternoon. Others present in addition to committee members and guests were Mesdames Fannie Ross, Martha Hill, Alma Kellogg, Anna Gale, Iona S. Sharp, Fannie Reeves, Cora Adams, Alice Sudduth and Susie Lamb.

Completing the group will be Mary, Ruth, Sidney and Edwin Danenhauer and Mr. and Mrs. Danenhauer of Clifton; George Danenhauer of Washington, D. C., who is coming by plane to spend Thanksgiving with the family. He has a government position in the agricultural department.

Next Saturday night the McLeods will be in tempo for a homecoming dance at State Teachers college. They plan to return home Sunday night after visiting with friends in Yuma. Mr. McLeod is with the county agricultural department.

London, England, gets much of its water supply from artesian wells, since there is a great supply of water, under pressure, 200 feet below the city.

While card play was in session at the first event, Mrs. Zerman became alarmingly ill. After she recuperated, she decided to assemble the same group for a "continued party," serving a desert course instead of a one-course luncheon as she did for the initial event.

Present with Mrs. Zerman and her mother, Mrs. Johnson were Mesdames Edith Snow, Margaret Church, Anna James, Roy Ivins, Alvin Nowotny, Bertha Berry and E. F. Perkins.

Bringing the party series to a close will be a similar event next Saturday afternoon in the Zerman home.

Earlier Event
An earlier event was given especially for Mrs. Zerman's mother, Mrs. Ella S. Johnson, "If at first you don't succeed try again" must have been the hostess' maxim, since this party was a continuation of a hospitality staged two weeks before.

A report of the national U. D. C. convention at Richmond, Va., followed and Mrs. S. P. Harris of Orange, gave the climax to the program by reading "Aeneas Africanus," that quaintly arresting study of a faithful old Negro servant by Harry Stilwell Edwards and briefly reviewing General Gordon's biography.

Mrs. H. R. Hendrie was welcomed to membership, and joined with Mrs. Lillian D. Pritchett to assist Mrs. Luchinger in hostess duties at the tea hour. Gingerbread with mounds of whipped cream, was served with coffee and assorted nuts from a table charmingly appointed in harmony with the autumn theme of the flowers throughout the home.

Our Children

BY ANGELO PATRI

In my experience, it is a mistake to allow anything to become an issue between yourself and a child. If he refuses to obey a reasonable request, and he is in the stage that we call infancy, you may have to pick him up and put him where you want him. You may have to insist that the thing be done because it must be done. If this happens until you can rid your self of any feeling of anger, even irritation. Then with as pleasant a manner as you can manage in an impersonal tone as you can command, put the matter up to him and leave it there. Go your way.

Whenever you find yourself facing a crisis this is good technique. Then, not before state the case, and leave it. Don't stand by to watch the rebellious one climb down and yield his flag. Don't allow him to feel that there is any such dramatic climax to the affair. Let him feel that the ending is rather flat, failing as it does without audience, without salutes on either side.

It is the feeling of shame and surrender that makes most of the trouble between parents and adolescent children at such times. Father or mother has uttered a decree. Son or daughter has issued an ultimatum. The issue is squarely drawn. Somebody must back down. In ninety-nine times out of the hundred it must be the child. Don't fight a battle that must leave scars more painful in your memory than in his. Don't feel any personal pride, endangered authority or any of the other foolish vanities of the human soul, but get out of the way.

Once the issue is ended let it forever rest. Don't if you value the peace of your household, your relationship with the children, refer to an issue that was drawn between you and fought out. The child does not like to remember it. Recalling it as you do recalls the shame and humiliation of that hour and the anger flames up again. The battle has to be fought all over again, and with added bitterness. No good can come of recalling past difficulties.

The best way to avoid such happenings is by the more difficult road of prevention. It is not always possible to see what is coming, but it is usually possible to see and avoid the situations that threaten the smooth progress of family living and prevent them. Don't mention the girl friend if mentioning her brings on a storm. Don't speak about the poor mark in last month's report if it will cause anger. Don't be sarcastic about the time spent on dressing for an occasion if you know that your speech will stir anger. Be wiser than the serpent. Set the stage for a kindly reception to your approaches, then go forward. The touchy adolescent is better dealt with indirectly. His skin is too thin to be touched with the bare hand. Use your softest and most soothing balm and wait for a more opportune time to speak your word in season. "In season," means so much.

Mr. Patri has prepared a special booklet (No. 201) entitled, "Obedience," in which he tells parents how to cope with the difficult problems of disobedience. Send for it, enclosing ten cents.

Address your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, The Bell Library, c/o this newspaper, 247 West 3rd street, New York, N. Y. (Copyright, 1937, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

FEWER PARROTS IN ENGLAND
LONDON, (UP)—Parrots are gradually disappearing from English homes and the import trade is practically ended. This is a result of the prohibition of the import of all birds of the parrot species imposed in 1930 "to prevent the spread of the infectious disease known as psittacosis."

FRENCH POLICE ARREST 6 SPIES

SALES DEBATE, BROADWAY JOB

PARIS, Nov. 23.—(UP)—The arrest of six spies on the northeastern frontier near France's famous Maginot line of defenses was linked by authorities today with the alleged plot of the mysterious Cagoulauds (Hooded Ones) to overthrow the popular front government.

The spies confessed that they gave information concerning fortifications and troops on the French side of the River Rhine to Nazi agents in Freiburg, Germany.

The alleged leader of the spy ring, a German named Dengler, was arrested at Huningue just as he was about to flee across the frontier. Two were arrested at a meeting of Colonel Francois De La Rocque's French social party reportedly is an outgrowth of the outlawed Fascist organization Croix De Feu (Cross of Fire). The spies belonged to a group from which the Cagoulauds had acquired many members.

The six spies were locked up in the military prison at Besancon. The arrests followed months of shadowing by agents of the Surete Nationale of numerous spies investigating the strength and disposition of French military defenses along the Rhine.

Penn questions the "school days" at council meeting after a lengthy debate over technical points of the contract for paving Broadway between First and 10th streets and placing a new storm drain at Fourth and Sycamore.

Both Smith and Bruns wanted to know why the original contract bid of $28,941.49 was not held to, why the cost of the job was $34,152.90, "why some 750 additional tons of decomposed granite road material should cost the city more than the bid price."

Councilman Ernest H. Layton, street commissioner, admitted he had agreed informally to the change of specifications, not only because it was necessary but because "it actually saved 10 days' delay in completion of the job."

The additional road material was necessary because, when the old pavement was dug away, more of the road bed came up with it than had been expected, and to bring the road back to grade, it was necessary to replace this bed, Layton said.

Other items

"As a matter of fact, some items cost a little more than was expected but, on the other hand, at least one item of cost was eliminated entirely, because it was found there was ample surface material," Layton declared.

City Engineer J. L. McBride pointed out that $43,000 was set aside for the job, that, therefore, about $10,000 was left to be used on other streets of major importance. Layton, adding to Penn's remark, declared the objections raised were "much ado about nothing."

Smith and Bruns smiled after registering "no" votes.

Building Permit Action Deferred

After approving a permit for William Uim to construct a two-family dwelling on the northwest corner of Eighth and Garnsey streets, city council last night said "no."

"We'll hold the matter up for two weeks," was the general order, only after a long argument. The approval was subject to the approval of the building department. But, when the James C. Smith request for a four-apartment permit on the northeast corner of the intersection came up, council decided to act with more discretion. The northwest corner action was tabled for two weeks, until Dec. 6.

"PROGRESS" IN SPAIN

The effort to make the Spanish civil war a purely Spanish affair may go forward a little more easily, now that Soviet Russia finally has accepted the plan for removal of foreign soldiers, drawn up and adopted by other non-intervention powers.

Under this plan, other nations would extend belligerent rights to the rebel government after "substantial progress" has been made in getting the foreign soldiers out of Spain. Russia had insisted that no such rights could be granted until all the foreigners had been withdrawn. Now she has modified this stand, and substantial progress in ridding the war-torn country of soldiers from other lands should now be possible.

There is not, however, any way to turn the clock back. The war in Spain has left scars which the hapless country will feel for decades to come. And some of the worst of them were made by people who were not Spaniards.

CHARITY FOR DOGS

By way of demonstrating that people who have more time and money on their hands than they know what to do with can make fairly complete spectacles of themselves, divers idle members of New York "society" threw a cocktail party for their dogs the other day.

Some 150 prize poodles gathered in a ritzy New York restaurant, attended by their owners, and indulged in an afternoon of cocktail-sipping and canape-munching. The whole thing was a "benefit," of course. It was solemnly announced, afterward, that no less than $300 had been raised for an eleemosynary institution known as the Bide-a-Wee Home for friendless and dejected dogs.

So it was all a worthy cause, and doubtless deserving of our cheers, but somehow the cheers are a trifle hard to produce. These effervescent flowerings of a class which has abundant money and abundant leisure, but which has no faintest idea how to use either, are a little out of place in a country as beset with serious problems of our own.

POLITICAL STRATEGY

We wonder if Supervisor N. E. West thinks he is fooling anyone with the thousands of words of publicity he is submitting to papers of the county?

His political strategy is as transparent as a pane of glass.

His attack on County Assessor Jim Sleeper didn't ring true. He caused a big flurry in some of the papers, drew a blast from Jim Sleeper, smiled and rubbed his hands. More publicity for West.

His latest was a long and weary article on how the grand jury is expected to investigate the practice of fees being collected by county officials. This in spite of the fact that there is nothing to investigate as certain county officials have been doing it for years, backed by state laws. It's nothing the grand jury should investigate. It's a question for the courts to decide. But again—more publicity for West.

We understand N. E. West will be a candidate for congress at the next election. That's his privilege. But editors are not all dumb and pretty soon they'll take this publicity stunt of West's for what it's worth.

Maybe this is more publicity for West. If it is let him make the best of it. There's a vast difference between publicity and news and N. E. West isn't news to our way of thinking.

SHOP IN SANTA ANA

Soon the first rush of holiday buying will be under way in Santa Ana. Store windows suddenly will sparkle with the colorful trappings of Christmas. Advertisements will have a gift-season dash about them. There'll be a gay secretiveness in all that surrounds us.

Our merchants are putting the best foot forward—in a delightful conspiracy we all applaud and enjoy. Christmas savings are ready to go into circulation. Christmas buying, for the next few weeks will be the common objective of all of us.

But where shall we do our buying? We make no appeal to support community stores just as a civic duty. True, money spent here goes to build purchasing power here; to help our tradesmen and clerks, our citrus growers and merchants. But that, perhaps is not enough. We want the best price and the best quality; we want all our dollars can buy!

We do not quarrel with that, but we do urge that you compare price and quality, as our merchants advertise them, with price and quality elsewhere. Local stores, in this day of highly efficient merchandising not only can meet the competition of larger stores in larger cities. Often they can surpass it. They have smaller overhead. And you have the added satisfaction of knowing that money spent at home means a greater measure of prosperity at home. Look in the show-windows; read the advertisements; make your comparisons. Our merchants have what you want—price and quality—and gay-colored ribbons and the Christmas spirit to wrap the packages in.

Let's shop at home this Christmas.

DOES PIRACY PAY?

A quarter of a century ago, the United States adopted the policy that piracy (legal thievery) was profitable. We decided at that time that it was perfectly right for the government to take from an individual, because it had such power, and give him absolutely nothing in return.

At the same time, we decided it was right for certain groups to have the special privilege of combining to keep their products scarce so they could take advantage of other groups of society and make an unfair trade.

At the same time, we decided we would give another group the special right of loaning other people's wealth and giving this special group the interest on the wealth of other people.

As a result of these decisions made a quarter of a century ago, we had a temporary appearance of prosperity. However, the actual physical volume of production never increased. In fact, it has now decreased as rapidly as it increased before we entered into the habit of piracy, of plain thievery.

We have now had eight years of a severe depression as a result of the people believing that it was practical for them, by the voting majority—by force—to take from one group and give nothing in return.

Must Learn Over

Centuries ago, primitive man decided it was easier to work and exchange than to steal. As we have stated before, Westerners, in his great book, "The Origin and Development of Moral Ideals," explained how primitive man found out that stealing and thievery were too hard work. He tells how primitive man decided it was easier to buy a woman than to steal her. He learned from this that it was easier to buy other things than to steal them.

But men forget and believe they are strong and can violate natural laws and not pay the penalty.

It would seem, with eight years of depression and the outlook as dark as it is at the present, that it is time any sensible man would begin to look around and analyze what we did to cause this. Until we rectify these mistakes, we will continue to pay the penalty.

It seems that it is a long way, however, from rectification because both major parties, the public schools and labor groups are advocating principles that are bound to mean unemployment, poverty and misery.

Have we no reason, or must we think through our stomachs?

GREAT HASTE FOR TAX REVISION

There are a great many people who are very anxious to have the surplus profits and the capital gains tax taken off at once. It is now proposed to take them off the smaller businesses.

It might be the worst thing in the world for the American people to be in a hurry to take this off.

If the Theory Is Sound

If the income tax theory is sound, then the undistributed surplus tax is certainly sound. It makes it impossible for people to have earnings and leave the tax in a corporation and by so doing avoid the graduated part of the tax. An individual who owns a corporation need only draw out enough of his income, if he has no other income, to pay his living expenses. He, thus, only pays the rate established by the corporation which until recently was not graduated and now graduated only to a small degree.

It might be the best thing for the people to keep on this tax until we finally, by experience, ascertain whether it is wise to tax a man because he makes two blades of grass grow where one grew before—because he produces wealth rapidly and efficiently.

Now that we have the income tax in actual experience, we can then ascertain if we try it long enough whether taking the wealth out of the hands of the man who makes it grow the most rapidly will increase wages or whether it will lower wages.

Until we thoroughly try it, the great mass of people will still believe, as the starchy-eyed college professors and the demagogic political leaders advocate, that people should pay taxes and not in proportion to what they cost the government but in proportion to their ability to pay.

Let us keep on trying this kind of a tax until we really make a thorough test. We do not seem to be willing to learn from the experience of history.

THE PRESIDENT'S INEXPERIENCED ADVISORS

It is reported by one of the columnists that a couple of the President's closest advisors tell him the capitalistic system is not worth saving. The inexperience of these advisors can be best illustrated by a story as told of a traveling salesman who was driving along on a country road in Eastern Tennessee and came to a small ford. A darky was standing by the little stream where some ducks were swimming. The salesman said: "Can I get through the creek with this car all right?" "Yes, Suh, drive right through." The salesman, thus encouraged, drove into the stream only to find that the water was so deep that it flooded his engine. He and his companion had to get out into the stream with the cold water up to their armpits and push the car to the bank. The salesman turned to the Negro and said angrily: "What do you mean by telling me that I could drive through that creek?" "Well, boss, I nevah knew dat water was so deep. It only comes half-way up on my ducks!"

The advisors for the President have been people with little experience and we are suffering the consequences, as the driver of the automobile who followed the advice of the inexperienced darky.

There are a thousand nameless ties,
Which only such as feel them know,
Of kindred thoughts, deep sympathies,
And untold fancy spells, which throw
O'er ardent minds and faithful hearts
A chain whose charmed links so blend
That the light circlet but imparts
Its force in those fond words—my friend.

If A Pilgrim Father Should Drop In On You Now

General Hugh S. JOHNSON Says

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Far be it from me to dodge my daily stint, but if another guy says what you think better than you can say it, isn't it O. K. to quote him? This is N.Y.U. Professor Spahr's essay—condensed and minus a few proposals with which I do not agree: "Perhaps just as significant is the implied threat of government action of some sort, vaguely defined, which the President says must be taken if business does not recover from this recession. His statement says: 'If private enterprise does not respond government must take up the slack.' "There can be no mistaking what the new program means—it is an ultimatum to capitalism to bring about prosperity or take the consequences. Unless business does recover, then in six months or in nine months or a year, there will be but one course to take, and Roosevelt will take it, namely, nationalize the railroads, the utilities and the insurance companies. The economic crisis put capitalism on the spot. The utter unfairness and demagoguery involved in the administration taking such a position, after being chiefly responsible for the present recession, ought to be clear. This is particularly true for an administration which so recently said of the late business recovery that 'we planned it that way, and don't let anyone tell you differently.' "The hope of the nation must lie with Congress. Until Congress demonstrates that it has an understanding of the economic situation, and rises to its responsibilities, the people of this nation cannot have any great assurance as to what the future holds for them."

Professor Spahr suggested "that the Federal Budget be balanced by cutting down expenses, not by increasing taxes; that the tax on undistributed corporate surpluses be repealed; that the capital gains tax be revised to recognize capital losses; that we return to a sound currency by returning to a gold standard at the present weight of the dollar; that there be no further inflation of the currency; that the government cease harassing and competing unfairly with private business enterprise; that the Wagner Labor Act be amended so as to make it equitable and impartial in its operation; that the problems of relief be returned to the states; that the encroaching of class hatred and of a class struggle cease; that there be a definite return to Constitutional law and government, by showing a scrupulous regard for our check and balance system, by building up a thorough-going system of civil service, by developing a responsible cabinet government and by according a proper respect for, and protection of, the integrity and high calibre of our Supreme Court.

"If these policies were adopted, the country would receive the encouragement that it needs if we are to have a sound and lasting recovery. I have no illusion, however, as to the probability that this administration will adopt such a program for the reason that this administration is concerned more with politics and wishful thinking than it is with statesmanship and sound economics. As a consequence, I expect to see this nation for the next few years act like a big lumbering truck, in the hands of an incompetent driver, that is careening down the street, knocking over innocent people, smashing into business, breaking fire hydrants, splashing mud in people's faces, and, I fear, finally winding up its mad course by plunging into the quicksands of inflation or into a sea of economic and social chaos."

Professor Spahr is not in favor of wages and hours legislation and wants to leave agriculture to the mercies of the tariff system—with which I do not agree. I also believe that the Federal Government should aid state relief. Otherwise, I think that is the most succinct and reasonable program I have seen. ### "UNJUST TAXES"

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It is difficult to see why the Tories are uttering such joyful noises over the president's tax-proposals, unless they simply wish to discredit him with the mass of the people who have hitherto trusted Mr. Roosevelt to deal faithfully with the upper-bracketters.

Certainly the president's message contained small comfort for the Baruch, Moley, Hugh Johnsons and Lippmanns of this world, so far as Mr. Roosevelt is concerned. He offered scant hope that the Tory policy would receive any kinder treatment from him than hitherto. The Tory business policy is simply itself: it is to remove all taxes on big business and multimillionaires, to balance the budget downward, to subsidize all major business enterprises which feel themselves slipping, and to get a care to indicate exactly what he thinks would be a fresh injustice: the use of the corporate form to enable individuals to escape paying personal income taxes on their personal income; the reduction of revenue from one source and making up the difference by laying new taxes on those least able to bear them—the one-third of the nation which is "ill-housed, ill-clad, ill-nourished;" the extension of tax privileges to individuals who have entered the stock market for speculative purposes, without making any real contribution to financing our economic system. He adds his belief that any tax-revision should be in the interest of the small businessman and aimed at curbing the big monopolies which oppress individual enterprise and curb business initiative.

This latter proposal, in particular, is not calculated to soothe those men who talk for business but mean big business and who have very little interest in the survival of small competitors or independent enterprises.

It may be true, as reported, that the Baruch boys have got a grip on the congressional committees and are whooping it up for an immediate poultice for the inflamed wallet-wielders. They showed their power in the last session of congress, when they throttled the judiciary reform bill, but got edged out when Senator Barkley captured the majority leadership over the long but prostrate form of Pat Harrison. They have both tasted blood and are smarting for revenge and I wouldn't put any bit of economic lunacy beyond them.

But that is a far, far different thing from saying that Mr. Roosevelt intends to let them get away with first-aid to the stock-market speculators or to the big business enterprises whose unconscionable price-raising has brought a new depression upon the country. No matter whence these light-fingered politicians derive their campaign funds, fresh elections are coming and they must try to get themselves re-elected in the coming primaries and congressional set-tos. And the mood of the country is far from reassuring to those who must go to the people in order to justify a do-nothing policy followed by a policy of restoring to power the same men and ideas responsible for giving the country two depressions in eight years.

It was bad enough to have Hooverism under Hoover—we could always hope to get rid of Hoover. But to have Hooverism under the New Deal is to set a premium on the very type of development which threatened national chaos in 1932: marches of veterans farm holiday strikes, barter-groups, wandering children, breadlines and black despondency.

GLANDS OF BODY ARE AMONG FACTORS CONTROLLING HAIR'S GROWTH

This is the second in a series in which Dr. Morris Fishbein discusses the hair, its health and care.

If there is any one subject that disturbs the average man more than any other, it is the gradual dissipation of hair from the top of his scalp.

In a study of baldness in many families, Osborne concluded that early baldness is inherited as a dominant character from father to son. In women, baldness is a recessive character, which explains why women very rarely are inclined to be bald.

There are many factors in the human body which control the growth of the hair. These factors are manifested chiefly through the glands of internal secretion. For instance, there is a substance in the pituitary gland which is believed to be definitely related to body growth and others supposed to be definitely concerned with the growth of the hair.

Eunuchs who have had the male sex glands removed from the body do not become bald, and there is known also to be a definite relationship between the functioning of these glands and the activities of the pituitary gland.

Sometimes excessive dryness of the hair is associated with a lack of activity of the thyroid gland.

In people in whom the secretion of the thyroid gland is less than normal, the hair is thin, dry and lusterless and may be prematurely gray.

With proper doses of thyroid gland by a physician, the hair and the skin usually improve. When secretion of the thyroid gland is too great, there are, in addition to the usual symptoms, in many instances thinning of the hair over the scalp and sometimes complete baldness.

When there is too much secretion of certain portions of the pituitary gland, superfluous hair may grow on various portions of the body. In women this superfluous hair may occur on the chest, the legs, and sometimes also on the face.

Observers also noticed that this additional hair was thick, wiry and oily. However, should the action of the pituitary gland be insufficient, the skin is likely to be smooth, transparent and free from moisture, and there may be a tendency to lack of hair upon the body.

Sometimes when there is a disordered action of the adrenal glands the effects may be observed in the distribution and character of the hair about the body. This varies with a tendency to either masculinity or femininity as the result of the glandular disorder.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1937 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—This Anglo-American trade treaty move is being played up officially as a great step for peace. Ballyhoosers are whipping up the idea it is the missing link in the line-up of the democracies against the dictators. That may be all right for home consumption and international effect, but you may be sure the matter is being treated inside here on a far more realistic basis.

True, the Washington and London announcements were timed to cover up the well planned failure of Anglo-American cooperation at Brussels. True, also, the Oriental mind is expected to get something out of it that is not in it, namely, the suspicion it is bolstered by a secret Anglo-American political understanding.

But if any U. S. officials had any romantic delusions about missing links, these were dispelled by something that happened within 24 hours after the announcement was made. The president of the council of the British cabinet, Viscount Halifax, went to Germany to confer with Hitler. Even so, the visit would not have been so suspicious if it had not been covered with such official excuses as, "nothing important was discussed," "The visit really went to see the big game exposition in Berlin," etc., etc.

As everyone here well knows, London desires to come to trade terms with Berlin as well as Washington.

Behind London's two handed gesturing is the realistic fact that trade is trade, whether it be in Communist Russia, warring Japan or Fascist Germany. The realistic British have never dealt on any other principle.

Thus, while the basis of the Anglo-American trade agreement is understood to have been reached and a treaty will certainly follow soon, much bargaining remains to be done.

You may wager up to a farthing that the coming pact will be the first big trade treaty; it will deal more with manufacturing products than any previous treaty; it will primarily affect textiles and coal.

The U. S. navy looks bad to the admirals only once each year—just before their budget goes to congress. Then the ships are all so old they are about to sink and guns will not work. England is vastly superior and Japan is nearly up to us. Navy Secretary Swanson broke down and sobbed about it officially the other day in the customary annual manner. Among the figures which Swanson did not disclose were those he sent to the budget bureau requesting naval appropriations for next year. These secret figures may explain the cause of Swanson's blige. He asked for more than $100,000,000 increase, in the face of the current White House economy and budget balancing movement. The navy got $526,000,000 this year, so this would mean about a 20 per cent increase.

The increase was based largely on the plan to start two new battleships and a number of auxiliary ships, but inside negotiations are on to trim the amount down to what actually may be needed to keep the work going within the next fiscal year.

The trimming may be effected before the figures are made public.

Diminishing congressional enthusiasm for the wages and hours bill was disclosed when only 135 of the 435 house members signed the petition for it the first week. Those 135 are the voluntary signers. After that various shades and degrees of heat were turned on. Signatures since then may accurately be attributed to pressure.

One thing certain is the pressure did not come from CIO. The law is endorsement was about 30 degrees cooler than John's normal enthusiasm. His associates (many of whom are talking in congress against the bill) say one reason is his present standing with the White House which would keep him from dictating selection of the new labor standards board to be created under the bill.

Most government departments gave 70 to 100 per cent of their quota to the local community chest drive by Nov. 19—but not the WPA.
